POLICE PROBE REPORTS OF ICHABOD CRANE

Attempts to Trace Mysterious Man Fail

WATCH IS KEPT IN LITTLE OLEY

Like a lean hound fleeing into the woods gangling "Ichabod Crane" has given residents of Little Oley the slip.

The gawky, disjointed stranger, who disappeared into the inky night two days ago, had residents of the quiet, sleepy little community on guard last night.

For three weeks the leng-legged speedster had been heard rummaging through a barn near an apartment building.

Twice he has been spotted.

On Wednesday night apartment residents got their second and closest view of the galloping thin man.

MRS. RUTH Kaufman, one of those who was close enough to touch Ichabod, last night reported. "The State police were here to investigate this afternoon.

"They told us we should call them as soon as we see him again.

"I certainly don't know how he gets away so easily.

"The other night he ran down the lane past the porch and out onto the road (Route 100). He must have gone through the yard of the hotel (Little Oley hotel) or the school yard (Colebrookdale school).

"We tried to trace him, but he runs very fast. You just can't track him."

Ichabod was seen on Wednesday at 10 p. m.

Mrs. Kaufman's husband, John Correll and Arthur Day, other apartment residents, attempted to close in on the lean man near the barn, but he galloped away and cut swiftly down the driveway.

Mrs. Kaufman said Ichabod might be the same man who frightened her neighbor, Mrs. Ernest Rhone, six weeks ago.

Mrs. Rhone got out of bed early one morning and saw a man's face peering in her bedroom window.

She added, "He might be after Mrs. Schaeffer (Mrs. Shirley Schaeffer). The Schaeffers live in a two-room bungalow on the apartment property here. She's alone at night because her husband works and he might know that.

"He's been seen mostly around the barn.

"But the police checked up and they don't think he's been sleeping there.

"I don't know what he wants in the barn. Mr. Correl repairs cars

'FINICKY' BURGLAR BREAKS INTO SEVEN STOWE BUSINESSES

By FRED C. SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

The "Finicky Phantom" moved his operations from Pottstown to Stowe yesterday and changed his record for burglaries in one night from four to seven.

The burglar—who ransacks offices in a single-minded search for folding money and who spurns small change and merchandise—visited seven business places within a long block of each other on Route 422 and West Vine street and Stowe.

Police said they believe this burglar is the same one who held the old record of four full-fledged burglaries in one night—a record set exactly a week earlier along a three-block stretch of Third street in Pottstown.

Investigating yesterday's break-ins were Jeffersonville State Police Corp. Donald C. Beacraft and West Pottsgrove Patrolman Anthony Canceliere.

Because of the 13 unsolved burglaries committeed in the borough in the past two months, Pottstown Plainclothesman Lewis M. Borgiet accompanied Beacraft.

See editorial Page 4: "We're Grown Up Now."

THE SEVEN places victimized yesterday were: Automotive Service incorporated; Mel and Bud's Gulf Service station; Morris Berman and Sons White Truck agency; Pottstown Cement Block company; Tropical Treat Dairy bar; Universal Machine company, and West End Welding company.

The Finicky Phantom's luck was almost exactly as bad in Stowe as it had been in Pottstown. From the four Third street burglaries the past week, he'd gotten $13, an average of $3.25 a visit. From the seven places in Stowe, he got an estimated total of $23, an average of $3.28 a visit.

In moving his operations, he changed his Thursday morning "working hours" slightly. On Third street, he'd fled a service station when seen by a nearby resident at 4:30 o'clock. Indications yesterday were that he didn't start work in Stowe much before 5 o'clock.

In Stowe, the burglar weakened slightly in his determination not to take any change, taking a few dollars in quarters and half dollars but leaving about $10 in smaller change untouched.

Among the non-money items the burglar spurned in Stowe were two shotguns valued at more than $200, micrometers, new tires, candy, ice cream and whisky.

About the only physical clue he left behind this time were cigaret butts he dropped onto office floors without bothering to grind them out. The Finick Phantom smokes Chesterfields.

HIS OPERATIONS yesterday raised to 21 the total of burglaries committed in the past nine weeks in Pottstown and points just beyond the borough limits.

Here's how the burglar made out yesterday:

On Route 422: At the Gulf Service station, he got about $3; at Automotive Service about $10; at the dairy bar, an estimated $6, and at Morris Berman's and the Cement Block company, nothing.

On West Vine street, one short block north of the West High street places: at Universal Machine he got an estimated $3, and at West End Welding company, about $1.25.

The four Route 422 places are in a row on the south side of the highway between Howard street and Grosstown road. The two West Vine street places are less than a block apart on the north side of the street.

His method of operation at these seven places was the same as it had been on Third street—breaking glass in a door or window to reach the lock; ransacking virtually every drawer and cabinet in the office, then going out a front or side door.

INDICATIONS that the string of burglaries may have been committed after 5 o'clock and before 7 o'clock came from Pottstown Cement Block company.

Kenneth Keen, clerk, reported that three men had been working in the cement block company shop until 5 o'clock. The shop is only about 200 feet from the office,

Expansion Need Held Urgent for Nurses' Group

After 17 years in the same location, Pottstown's Visiting Nurse organization is looking for new headquarters.

The organization has been housed at the YWCA since 1936, when it consisted of a one-woman staff—Leona V. Smith, RN.

"We've outgrown our facilities at the YWCA and now are seeking quarters with more space," said Miss Smith last night.

The decision to move was made yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the board of trustees, with Mrs. Arthur Simpson presiding.

Miss Smith traced the growth of the organization to its present size—three full-time nurses, one part-time nurse and a part-time office secretary. Then she came back to the more immediate problem.

"We need a place with about three rooms and a good-sized storage space," the nurse explained.

"Among other things, we have to store about 800 pieces of clothing from the Needlework guild and also have a place for our loan closet," she continued.

The "loan closet" consists of sickroom supplies which are lent free of charge to needy persons. They include beds, wheel chairs, crutches, baby scales and vaporizers.

"We have been selected as one of three agencies in the county to conduct a program for retarded children; this is being done on a one-year trial basis," Miss Smith said.

Another activity of the group includes a "well baby clinic" for Immediate Relief Of Parking Woes Urged by Knause

Immediate relief of the parking difficulties confronting North Franklin street residents was requested last night by J. Wayne Knause, Seventh ward, at a meeting of borough Republicans.

Knause, who this past Oct. 28 called for an end to the confusion resulting from passage of a no-parking ban on North Franklin street, from Beech to High streets, last night broached the topic again.

Referring to the traffic plan adopted by police committee this past Monday night, a plan which will be presented to council next week, Knause said the relief for residents who have no place to park should be immediate before the new plan becomes law.

The plan calls for Franklin street to handle only one-way northbound traffic.

BURGESS WILLIAM A. Griffith was responsible for the parking ban when he broke a 9-9 tie vote at the September session of council.

The burgess presented a borough-wide traffic plan Monday after four years of prodding, a plan with no appreciable changes from the original GOP traffic program.

An ordinance on the new traffic schedule will be given council Monday night for first reading.

Knause said, "I believe we should suspend the present parking ban along North Franklin street to relieve the people there. There's no reason why they should wait until the other law is passed."

East Greenville school directors held a "roundtable" discussion at their regular meeting last night.

Everything from building plans to football schedules came in for some notice by the five directors.

Of course, the "round table" was really the oval table in the High school office, but it served well enough as a sounding board for questions and opinions.

Among questions that were talked over were those of insurance on pupils, tuition charges, teachers' tenure, State appropriations of money for local school building—and the football schedule for next year.

THE DIRECTORS also approved the application of the borough to open Sixth street, which cuts across school property.

"I think it will be advantageous to the school here" said Stanley M. Kurtz, supervising principal of the Upper Perkiomen jointure (to

Hunting Off Limits Common Violation, Protectors Report

Too many hunters are just a little too anxious going after that flashy ring-neck or elusive rabbit, and they're paying for it.

Area game protectors, reporting on violations in this year's season, say the most common infractions are hunting before hours and after hours and shooting too near inhabited dwellings.

William Shaver, game protector for upper Montgomery county, said last night, "We've made about eight or ten arrests for hunting before 7 in the morning and after 5 in the evening. Year after year this seems to be about the most common infraction."

The violation carries a $15 fine.

"The other common offense is hunting too close to buildings," Shaver said. "You can't hunt within 150 yards of occupied buildings. Too many hunt entirely too close, endangering the lives of people who live there.

"About ten arrests have been made on this charge."

This safety zone violation carries a $25 fine.

Two Hunters Shun Aiding Farmer as Tractor Blazes

Two freak fires, which ignited tractors and other machinery while being used to pick corn, were reported yesterday by area farmers.

In one blaze, a Kulptown farmer learned that, although hunting is a sport, not all hunters are sportsmen. A pair of nimrods were nearby when Harrison Roth's corn picker suddenly began to blaze.

While others hunting in the area rushed over to help, the two others nonchalantly went on with their hunting, Roth said last night.

"The muffler on the tractor seemed to ignite the fodder from underneath," Roth said, describing the fire. "It just went up like a match and started spreading through the fields.

"We beat the flames back with bags and rakes until the fire company arrived from Monocacy.

"The corn picker was on fire for a while but we put it out by covering the flaming parts of the machine with wet mud.

Solid Demo, 92, Almost Lets GOP Friend Break a Tradition

By ROBERT E. HOYER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Grover Cleveland and Adlai Stevenson never met, but to a tireless Pottstown voter, they have a lot in common—they're Democrats.

Reuben Kline Scheifley, 92, of 1011 Belleview avenue, voted for Cleveland and Stevenson and a lot of Democrats named Bill and Joe.

In fact he never voted for anybody but a Democrat.

On Tuesday, however, he proved even a strong man has moments of weakness. He almost voted for a Republican.

But then he decided to stay away from the polls. A long-time friend of GOP Seventh ward council candidate J. Wayne Knause, Scheifley admitted a weakness for the Republican veteran.

He used to carry mail to Knause's home and he likes Council's friendly finance chairman.

But in the end he held firm. He stayed away from the polls after a consecutive voting record which goes back to the days of Lillian Russell.

He might have voted for her too—if she were a Democrat.

Relief Is on Way For Overcrowded Borough Hospitals

Overcrowding still exists in Pottstown's two hospitals, but relief is on the way.

That was how hospital officials summarized the situation last night. They said the expected relief will come with the completion of construction work now underway.

Here's the current picture at Memorial hospital:

"October was an all-time high for the number of patient days and also for maternity cases at the hospital," said Administrtor Albert P. Pollick.

"We try to keep several emergency beds ready, but we've been forced to send patients to other hospitals because we had no space for them," he continued.

AND AT POTTSTOWN hospital, Acting Administrator Arthur E. Shade described this situation:

Winter Sends Bill For Summer Joys — Freeze on Way

By STANLEY ZAWADZKI
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Life seemed brighter during a beautiful October.

Colorful skies, framed by occasional wisps of white clouds, for weeks on end raised a ceiling into space—and lifted spirits with it.

In forests and fields, the smouldering glow of red-orange leaves bordered neat green furrows.

Gardens jealously treasured a blossom here and there.

But now, the last rose of Summer is dead.

For carefree, coatless days, the piper must be paid.

The bill was rudely presented last night.

Flowers that had been given a month of added life withered under the sting of below-freezing temperatures. Readings that had stayed in the middle 30s during the night dropped into the 20s this morning, it was reported in rural areas.

More of Winter is on the way, too.

In central Pennsylvania, the sloping shoulders of the mountains were covered last night by a light cape of snow.

With these signs that Winter clearly is here, Pottstown motorists yesterday rushed their defense measures.

'FINICKY' BURGLAR BREAKS INTO SEVEN STOWE BUSINESSES

By FRED C. SELBY

The "Finicky Phantom" moved his operations from Pottstown to Stowe yesterday and changed his record for burglaries in one night from four to seven.

The burglar—who ransacks offices in a single-minded search for folding money and who spurns small change and merchandise—visited seven business places within a long block of each other on Route 422 and West Vine street and Stowe.

Two freak fires, which ignited tractors and other machinery while being used to pick corn, were reported yesterday by area farmers.

In one blaze, a Kulptown farmer learned that, although hunting is a sport, not all hunters are sportsmen. A pair of nimrods were nearby when Harrison Roth's corn picker suddenly began to blaze.

While others hunting in the area rushed over to help, the two others nonchalantly went on with their hunting, Roth said last night.

"The muffler on the tractor seemed to ignite the fodder from underneath," Roth said, describing the fire. "It just went up like a match and started spreading through the fields.

"THREE HUNTERS rushed right over to help me. Charles Smith, of Monocacy, threw down his gun and rushed over to grab a rake. Claude Snyder from Esterly, and his friend rushed right over, too.

"Two others saw us fighting the fire but just went on about their hunting. It especially hurt because I had just given them permission to hunt my land.

"We beat the flames back with bags and rakes until the fire company arrived from Monocacy.

"The corn picker was on fire for a while but we put it out by covering the flaming parts of the machine with wet mud.

"It could have been very dangerous, because the whole area is

Solid Demo, 92, Almost Lets GOP Friend Break a Tradition

By ROBERT E. HOYER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Grover Cleveland and Adlai Stevenson never met, but to a tireless Pottstown voter, they have a lot in common—they're Democrats.

Reuben Kline Scheifley, 92, of 1011 Belleview avenue, voted for Cleveland and Stevenson and a lot of Democrats named Bill and Joe.

In fact he never voted for anybody but a Democrat.

On Tuesday, however, he proved even a strong man has moments of weakness. He almost voted for a Republican.

But then he decided to stay away from the polls. A long-time friend of GOP Seventh ward council candidate J. Wayne Knause, Scheifley admitted a weakness for the Republican veteran.

He used to carry mail to Knause's home and he likes Council's friendly finance chairman.

But in the end he held firm. He stayed away from the polls after a consecutive voting record which goes back to the days of Lillian Russell.

He might have voted for her too—if she were a Democrat.

CLEVELAND, listed as the 22d and 24th presidents (his reign was interrupted by Republican Benjamin Harrison—1888 to 1892) was the first President to receive the benefit of a Scheifley ballot.

The former mail carrier was a staunch supporter of the Nebraska commet, William Jennings Bryan,

Relief Is on Way For Overcrowded Borough Hospitals

Overcrowding still exists in Pottstown's two hospitals, but relief is on the way.

That was how hospital officials summarized the situation last night. They said the expected relief will come with the completion of construction work now underway.

Here's the current picture at Memorial hospital:

"October was an all-time high for the number of patient days and also for maternity cases at the hospital," said Administrtor Albert P. Pollick.

"We try to keep several emergency beds ready, but we've been forced to send patients to other hospitals because we had no space for them," he continued.

AND AT POTTSTOWN hospital, Acting Administrator Arthur E. Shade described this situation:

"We've been tied up the past month with a good number of ad-

Winter Sends Bill For Summer Joys – Freeze on Way

By STANLEY ZAWADZKI
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Life seemed brighter during a beautiful October.

Colorful skies, framed by occasional wisps of white clouds, for weeks on end raised a ceiling into space—and lifted spirits with it.

In forests and fields, the smouldering glow of red-orange leaves bordered neat green furrows.

Gardens jealously treasured a blossom here and there.

But now, the last rose of Summer is dead.

For carefree, coatless days, the piper must be paid.

The bill was rudely presented last night.

Flowers that had been given a month of added life withered under the sting of below-freezing temperatures. Readings that had stayed in the middle 30s during the night dropped into the 20s this morning, it was reported in rural areas.

More of Winter is on the way, too.

In central Pennsylvania, the sloping shoulders of the mountains were covered last night by a light cape of snow.

With these signs that Winter clearly is here, Pottstown motorists yesterday rushed their defense measures.

Hurried queries on "will it, or

Kentucky to Conduct Check on Tax Evasion

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 5 (AP)—Department of Revenue agents next week will begin a house-to-house check throughout eKntucky to ferret out State income tax evaders.

A check of business houses conducted in three Kentucky cities earlier this year resulted in the State collecting about $25,000 in taxes on intangible property. The survey also revealed that an average of one of five businesses in the three towns failed to file State income tax returns.

Robert H. Allphin, commissioner of revenue, said the house-to-house survey will be made in every county and city until delinquents are rounded up.

Museum Director Finds Three Whooping Cranes

REGINA, Sask., Nov. 5 (AP)—Three of the world's few remaining whooping cranes are resting near Herbert, Sask., on their way to Southern United States wintering grounds. Fred Bard, director of the Saskatchewan museum, said he found the birds today and confirmed they were the rare cranes.

So far, 16 whooping cranes have flown from Summer nesting grounds in the Canadian Arctic to Winter grounds in Texas. Only about 30 of the birds are believed still alive.

Music is the only sensual grtification in which mankind may indulge to excess without injury to their moral or religious feelings.—Addison.

We're Grown Up Now

WHAT is this rash of burglaries? Competition?

If it's a contest, Stowe is 'way ahead of Pottstown!

Stowe had seven business places pushed over in one night, while Pottstown's best was only four knockovers. So Stowe leads, 7 to 4!

The finicky phamtom, as a Mercury newsman so aptly named the marauder, doesn't seem to worry about how long it takes him to ransack business houses.

He evidently is brazen, calm and painstaking. He takes his time looting, looks only for paper money.

But what is surprising is how a burglar can work so long—and it must have taken him hours to rifle four Pottstown places, and many more hours to go through the seven Stowe places—without being detected. He evidently was in no hurry, smoked cigarets, and took his good old time.

Why didn't someone see him somewhere? He must be a phantom!

If these break-ins point up anything, they point up how poorly Pottstown and adjoining communities are policed. If streets were patroled carefully, slowly and diligently, such maraudings couldn't take place.

But Pottstown doesn't have enough policemen on the early shift. Moreover, and despite all the robberies here, no efforts have been made to shift police strength to the weak morning hours. There is just no executive leadership in the Pottstown police department who'd do this.

As for the neighboring communities, they are in greater need for more police protection. Communities like Stowe and Sanatoga have grown rapidly. Many new businesses have sprung up in these communities. And yet the governing bodies of the townships have not kept pace with the growth.

Stowe has only two policemen. Sanatoga has one. These men cannot work around the clock. Neither can they be in two places at the same time.

Township supervisors may have recognized the need for more surveillance. They may have balked at the cost of police supervision. But it certainly is needed. And it's cheap at any price if it will stop the annoying breakins.

It's about time that borough and township officials begin to realize that Pottstown and its environs have grown up. It's a big community—and it must revamp its thinking to conform to larger size.

End of the Middle Class

PERLE MESTA, formerly American minister to Luxembourg, recently made an extended visit to Russia, and wrote a series of articles about her experiences.

In one of them, Mrs. Mesta said, "Wherver I moved I was amazed to see how Russia was divided so sharply into two broad classes—the rich who had much and the poor who had little.

"Everything in Moscow seemed to contradict the Communist stories of the classless society which the Russians were supposed to be building.

"About all they seem to have achieved has been to wipe out the middle class, leaving the two extremes as great or greater than ever."

At one extreme Mrs. Mesta saw legions of ragged peasants and workers, living at a bare subsistence level. At the other she saw luxury shops which can be patronized only by the elite, and a roof-top restaurant where a dinner for two cost 120 rubles.

The average Russian worker earns 600 rubles a month!

All the fine-spun theories notwithstanding, there are more class distinctions and more social and economic oppression of the masses under communism and the other totalitarian systems than the world has known in centuries.

The few have every luxury—and the many have barely enough for survival.

Starvation, imprisonment and liquidation await those who protest. This is what always happens when a people give government vast and ever-increasing power over their lives.

Mother Frightened by Hunters

Experience With Hunters

To the Editor: Hunting season opened with a big bang on our farm.

Although the land hereabouts was well posted, hunters flocked into the fields without a word to the owners.

They paid their $3.50 for a license and figured they could hunt anywhere they pleased.

They came within 90 yards of the house (150 is the legal limit) and shot off their guns. One had the muzzle pointed at my husband while he shot a rabbit.

After they were told three times to get off, they left.

One neighbor who is a vet said it sounded like the front lines, and he wasn't kidding.

I am afraid to leave my children out during hunting season although they wear red coats and hats.

These men stay up half the night with the bottle and then if they don't get any game birds the next day, they take pot shots at the chickens and livestock. Our children will be next. What can be done about irresponsible hunters?

Schwenksville MOTHER

Precautions Advised

To the Editor: What a tremendous laugh I got when I read how the hunters went out to shoot game and wound up shooting themselves.

Fortunately no one was seriously hurt in this section of the State. But isn't it ridiculously silly of hunters to be so stupid as to take no precautions in handling firearms?

When you stop to think how anyone can go into a store and buy a shotgun and ammunition, it seems miraculous that there aren't as many hunters killed as there are game.

Wouldn't it be advisable for hunters to have to pass a certain test in applying for a license? The test would cover all the simple precautions about handling firearms.

Pottstown SAFETY-MINDED

Become Vegetarian

To the Editor: In reference to a letter in your column Nov. 3 ("Hunters Are Sissies") I would like very much to shed a little light on the hunting subject for Animal Lover.

Dear Animal Lover, just which is going to be on your dinner table come Thanksgiving dinner time? Turkey I am sure.

Well, my friend, did you ever stop to realize just how much chance a turkey has when he is grabbed by the legs, laid on the chopping block and loses his head so he can be prepared for your dinner?

If you ever went hunting, Animal Lover, you would realize that the rabbits and pheasants have a chance to run or fly, whichever the case may be, for their lives, which the poor turkeys do not.

If you went hunting, you must surely know how easy it is to miss a rabbit running at top speed through underbrush or a pheasant flying through trees.

So, my friend, if you are the animal lover you claim to be, then my advice to you is to become a vegetarian, as all the meat you eat comes from animals that do not ever have the chance to run.

Pottstown HUNTING LOVER

Muddled Thinking

To the Editor: So experienced police officers are needed to direct traffic and guide funeral processions through Pottstown?

So Burgess William Griffith figures that dayshift officers are needed for traffic duties?

In the meantime the rookies are placed on night duty to cope with a wave of burglaries.

Which is more important: Sceing that traffic flows smoothly through Pottstown or stopping the wave of burglaries?

Isn't it entirely possible that one of these times a burglar is apt to shoot some innocent person who happens to get in the way?

It seems to me that the burgess is muddled in his thinking along those lines.

Pottstown OBSERVER

The Long Wait

To the Editor: It took four years for the burgess to produce a traffic plan.

Coincidentally he produced it on the day before the election.

Does this mean we'll have to wait another four years for it to be put into effect?

Israel Political Creation, Remind Jewish Leaders

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—Many prominent Jewish leaders in this country have become deeply concerned over the growing impression here and abroad that the State of Israel is a special ward of the United States. They have undertaken a campaign to make clear that Israel is a political creation, not a religious shrine or settlement.

On April 8, 1953, the American Council for Judaism submitted a memorandum to this effect to the State department. It was entitled a "Memorandum Outlining the Principles of the American Council for Judaism and Several Problems Created by Confusion of Judaism with the Ntionalism of a Foreign State."

Its central theme was that (1) "Judaism is a religion, not a nationality; (2) Israel is not a 'Jewish State'; (3) American Jews have no national attachment to Israel through their religion."

Although Secretary Dulles gave no publicity to this protest, it apparently affected his thinking on foreign problems in the Middle East where disputes between Israel and the Arab States give delight to the Kremlin.

On his return from a visit to that area in April, Dulles delivered a stern rebuke to Israeli extremists in a radio address. It was an unusually bold speech for a Cabinet member of either Party.

DEPLORE DEVELOPMENT: In view of the current controversy before the United Nations over Israel's diversion of water from the Biblical River Jordan, the memorandum of April 8 has been redistributed by the Council.

Besides asserting that not more than 500,000 of the 5,000,000 Jews in this country belong to the Zionist movement, which champions Palestine, it urges Dulles to make a sharp differentiation between Judaism and Israel in his conduct of foreign policy.

Many prominent Jews, including those not associated with the Zionists or the American Council for Judaism, deplore recent developments which tend to plunge their religion and their race into the dangerous maelstrom of domestic and world politics.

They recall how another race and another religion suffered because of political disputes involving the independence of Ireland and diplomatic recognition of the Vatican.

WORLD-WIDE RESPONSIBILITY: Two recent episodes make this question especially explosive at the present moment when President Eisenhower's special diplomatic emissary, Eric Johnston, is seeking to solve the Israeli-Arab problem.

Meeting with Levi Eshkol, Israel Finance Minister, and other Palestine officials, a group of American businessmen visiting Jerusalem agreed to obtain $75,000,000 from American Jews to consolidate and refund the New State's short-term indebtedness. Representatives from the United States, Britain, France, South Africa, Canada, Switzerland, Mexico, Argentina and Australia attended the five-day, economic conference.

On the same day, Oct. 28, Jordan threatened to evict the United States Point Four Mission to that country because of American resumption of financial aid to Israel. Jordan has protested that diversion of water from the river of the same name will destroy her agriculture.

Ironically, and indicating the difficulty of eliminating politico-relgious questions from American elections, it was prominent GOP masterminders who persuaded the White House to reverse its anti-Israel policy.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

JOAN J. is the wife of the dentist whom I quoted yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, what can I do to save my marriage?" she spoke tearfully.

"For Peter says he can't stand me any longer. He wants a divorce. But that would be intolerable to my family, for they don't believe in divorce.

"Can't I win him back? Or is it too late?"

LOVE CAN BE re-built, even if one party to the romance hates the other one! And that is not an exaggeration.

Several times I have described patients in this column who detested their mates, but who were madly in love again within a year.

But one of the two people involved, must use the proper psychological strategy. If the other one is willing to cooperate, that makes the task doubly easy.

But you can win your mate's affection again, even against the latter's wishes.

In Joan's case, I employed the "sandwich method" for giving her reproof regarding her slovenly habits in the home.

This "sandwich" plan means that you start off with an honest compliment. Then deftly insert the "meaty" or critical layer.

It is well to smile tolerantly and use the casual, "I wonder if it wouldn't be better if you tried very hard to be neat around the house. That's especially true since Peter is so meticulous."

I added another honest compliment to complete the sandwich. In this way, you can put across the needed reproof without offending the other person's ego.

THEN I URGED Joan to be very liberal with compliments for her mate, making it a solemn rule to give him a minimum of three spoken compliments every day.

In addition, she was to smile delightedly when he came home, for a smile is a dandy non-verbal compliment.

And she was to kiss him, Hollywood style, and put all the "oomph" into the act that she could muster.

"If you can get him to go through the motions of love," I warned her, "then he will soon begin to feel the corresponding emotions."

Well, Joan reported back to me that on the first night, Peter barely kissed her. It was an effort on his part.

But she kept up her role, and never let on that she was hurt by his impersonal attitude and studied aloofness.

"Before the end of the week, he wasn't so impersonal," she exulted, "for I could feel him weakening. And then he finally kissed me back again as he used to do during our courtship."

SICK WORLD

Hollywood

By DON HOPE

While Miss Gwynn is on vacation, her column is being conducted by Don Hope.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5 — There were three highly successful previews of new pictures here during the past few nights. First was "Rhapsody," starring Elizabeth Taylor and Vittorio Gassman, Shelley Winters' husband who is now in Italy on business and was unable to hear the raves accorded him. Elizabeth Taylor is in England, and though she drew favorable comment, maybe it's just as well she couldn't hear many complaining about all the weight she's put on. . . . "The Glenn Miller Story," starring Jimmy Stewart and June Allyson, was shown to a small gathering, and the fact that Mrs. Miller, widow of the band-leader wept often during the unreeling, gives proof of the quality and authenticity of that film.

After the three talked for about five minutes and the authors got a load of Desi's accent, they changed the name of the hero to "Tony Carlos Collini!"

Hillary Brooke is home from London, where she made a picture, and several places on the European continent which she toured. Hillary now resumes her television chores with Charles Farrell in "My Little Margie" . . . . Nora Haymes must have it bad for Scott Brady. He's been on location in a remote and rugged portion of Arizona (for "Johnny Guitar"—with Joan Crawford)—but Nora packed up and went to visit him there just the same.

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

How English Do It... Compare Paper Sizes...

★ HICK GOES TO NEW YORK—You can take the boy out of the country, but you can't take the newspaper instinct out of the reporter (to paraphrase that old saw). When your newsman was advised to get away from the stress and strain of making deadlines, it was agreed he'd take it easy, see a couple of Broadway shows and forget all about the newspaper business. The resolution was unbroken until breakfast the first day out of Pottstown. In the hotel dining room Lawrence, the headwaiter, confided: "Those men at the next table are British newspapermen. They're just off the first flight of a newly inaugurated airline schedule from England to the US." That broke the resolution! Somehow those English newspapermen and your local yokel finished their toast and tea about the same time, and got together in the spacious lobby of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel . . .

"WHAT DID YOU TALK ABOUT?" facetiously asked Mercury Newsman FRED SELBY when the incident was recounted in the editorial room here. One guess. Newspapering, of course. Most of the gossip was on crime and punishment and how the newspapers handle crime news. The British newspapermen were WILFRID LYTH, deputy editor of the Evening Chronicle, Manchester; HARRY M. NAYLOR, news editor of the Liverpool Daily Post, and JACK MILLER, managing editor of the fabulous London Daily Sketch, which has a circulation of 750,000! Lyth's Chronicle has a daily readership of 250,000, while Naylor's Post was smallest with 75,000 circulation . . .

★ THE ENGLISH newspapermen were amazed when your Pottstown newsman told him The Mercury, in a community of 23,000 souls, published as many as 40 pages, rarely less than 16 pages. They were amazed because their papers were held down to small size, despite the easing of newsprint restriction there. Miller's Sketch, for instance, runs only 16 tabloid pages. That would be only eight pages of The Mercury's standard size. In a city with metropolitan population of 8 million, the Sketch's circulation of three-quarters of a million doesn't seem large compared with The Mercury's 21,869 circulation in a community of 23,000! They marveled at the coverage—as do our own American cousins! . . .

BUT MOST ASTONISHMENT concerned the American press' handling of crime news. Their papers, they said, wouldn't dare publish the picture of a suspect in a murder case. It was contempt of court and they'd go to jail! The fact is, even during trials they are not permitted to take pictures of principals within city blocks of the courthouse! The judge decides how far an area around the court is off bounds to photographers. The English were reminded that Americans go to jail for the right of freedom of the press and to take trial pictures—just as three Cleveland newspapermen did just a few weeks ago . . .

★ YOUR LOCAL YOKEL doesn't get out too much, so maybe this wasn't news. But on crack Pennsylvania railroad trains they've now got automatic machines that dispense foods and drinks. No longer does the food "butcher" come around hawking his wares. There's a battery of machines at the end of coaches where you can buy as little as a cup of coffee or a candy bar, or as much as a complete light meal. For instance, for 75 cents you can get fruit juice, a sandwich, ice cream and milk or coffee! After paying $4.70 for roast beef in a New York hotel, it was easier on the pocketbook to grab a cheese sandwich here for 30 cents!

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

TIME WAS WHEN only as a last resort were the risks involved in chest and heart surgery ever dared. Changing conditions have now made this procedure more and more possible, and farther removed from the last chance group.

Such diseases as severe cuts of the heart muscles, following injury from either cuts or bullet wounds, can now be repaired.

At certain times, the sac surrounding the heart becomes infected. This may cause a compression of the heart due to the scar tissue that is formed around the sac.

Those who suffered from this condition at one time were doomed; however, now the scarred sac that holds the heart can be successfully cut open by surgical methods and the pressure of the heart relieved.

Certain heart conditions with which children are born can now be repaired surgically.

This does not mean that all blue babies can be helped. However, after complicated tests have been completed, surgery can be performed on many children otherwise doomed to early death.

At one time, the person suffering from affliction of the heart following rheumatic fever had no hope.

Now, hearts that are damaged by rheumatic fever can be helped, in certain cases, through surgery. Although the operation is not an easy one, promising results have been attained.

Certain operations have even been perfected for those suffering from coronary heart disease. However, these operations are still in the experimental stages and only time will tell whether this great killer of man might also be controlled by modern heart surgery.

We're Grown Up Now

WHAT is this rash of burglaries? Competition?

If it's a contest, Stowe is 'way ahead of Pottstown!

Stowe had seven business places pushed over in one night, while Pottstown's best was only four knockovers. So Stowe leads, 7 to 4!

* * *

The finicky phamtom, as a Mercury newsman so aptly named the marauder, doesn't seem to worry about how long it takes him to ransack business houses.

He evidently is brazen, calm and painstaking. He takes his time looting, looks only for paper money.

But what is surprising is how a burglar can work so long—and it must have taken him hours to rifle four Pottstown places, and many more hours to go through the seven Stowe places—without being detected. He evidently was in no hurry, smoked cigarets, and took his good old time.

Why didn't someone see him somewhere? He must be a phantom!

If these break-ins point up anything, they point up how poorly Pottstown and adjoining communities are policed. If streets were patroled carefully, slowly and diligently, such maraudings couldn't take place.

But Pottstown doesn't have enough policemen on the early shift. Moreover, and despite all the robberies here, no efforts have been made to shift police strength to the weak morning hours. There is just no executive leadership in the Pottstown police department who'd do this.

As for the neighboring communities, they are in greater need for more police protection. Communities like Stowe and Sanatoga have grown rapidly. Many new businesses have sprung up in these communities. And yet the governing bodies of the townships have not kept pace with the growth.

Stowe has only two policemen. Sanatoga has one. These men cannot work around the clock. Neither can they be in two places at the same time.

Township supervisors may have recognized the need for more surveillance. They may have balked at the cost of police supervision. But it certainly is needed. And it's cheap at any price if it will stop the annoying breakins.

It's about time that borough and township officials begin to realize that Pottstown and its environs have grown up. It's a big community—and it must revamp its thinking to conform to larger size.

End of the Middle Class

PERLE MESTA, formerly American minister to Luxembourg, recently made an extended visit to Russia, and wrote a series of articles about her experiences.

In one of them, Mrs. Mesta said, "Wherver I moved I was amazed to see how Russia was divided so sharply into two broad classes—the rich who had much and the poor who had little.

"Everything in Moscow seemed to contradict the Communist stories of the classless society which the Russians were supposed to be building.

"About all they seem to have achieved has been to wipe out the middle class, leaving the two extremes as great or greater than ever."

At one extreme Mrs. Mesta saw legions of ragged peasants and workers, living at a bare subsistence level. At the other she saw luxury shops which can be patronized only by the elite, and a roof-top restaurant where a dinner for two cost 120 rubles.

The average Russian worker earns 600 rubles a month!

All the fine-spun theories notwithstanding, there are more class distinctions and more social and economic oppression of the masses under communism and the other totalitarian systems than the world has known in centuries.

The few have every luxury—and the many have barely enough for survival.

Starvation, imprisonment and liquidation await those who protest. This is what always happens when a people give government vast and ever-increasing power over their lives.

Mother Frightened by Hunters

Experience With Hunters

To the Editor: Hunting season opened with a big bang on our farm.

Although the land hereabouts was well posted, hunters flocked into the fields without a word to the owners.

They paid their $3.50 for a license and figured they could hunt anywhere they pleased.

They came within 90 yards of the house (150 is the legal limit) and shot off their guns. One had the muzzle pointed at my husband while he shot a rabbit.

After they were told three times to get off, they left.

One neighbor who is a vet said it sounded like the front lines, and he wasn't kidding.

I am afraid to leave my children out during hunting season although they wear red coats and hats.

These men stay up half the night with the bottle and then if they don't get any game birds the next day, they take pot shots at the chickens and livestock. Our children will be next. What can be done about irresponsible hunters?

Schwenksville MOTHER

Precautions Advised

To the Editor: What a tremendous laugh I got when I read how the hunters went out to shoot game and wound up shooting themselves.

Fortunately no one was seriously hurt in this section of the State. But isn't it ridiculously silly of hunters to be so stupid as to take no precautions in handling firearms?

When you stop to think how anyone can go into a store and buy a shotgun and ammunition, it seems miraculous that there aren't as many hunters killed as there are game.

Wouldn't it be advisable for hunters to have to pass a certain test in applying for a license? The test would cover all the simple precautions about handling firearms.

Become Vegetarian

To the Editor: In reference to a letter in your column Nov. 3 ("Hunters Are Sissies") I would like very much to shed a little light on the hunting subject for Animal Lover.

Dear Animal Lover, just which is going to be on your dinner table come Thanksgiving dinner time? Turkey I am sure.

Well, my friend, did you ever stop to realize just how much chance a turkey has when he is grabbed by the legs, laid on the chopping block and loses his head so he can be prepared for your dinner?

If you ever went hunting, Animal Lover, you would realize that the rabbits and pheasants have a chance to run or fly, whichever the case may be, for their lives, which the poor turkeys do not.

If you went hunting, you must surely know how easy it is to miss a rabbit running at top speed through underbrush or a pheasant flying through trees.

So, my friend, if you are the animal lover you claim to be, then my advice to you is to become a vegetarian, as all the meat you eat comes from animals that do not ever have the chance to run.

Muddled Thinking

To the Editor: So experienced police officers are needed to direct traffic and guide funeral processions through Pottstown?

So Burgess William Griffith figures that dayshift officers are needed for traffic duties?

In the meantime the rookies are placed on night duty to cope with a wave of burglaries.

Which is more important: Seeing that traffic flows smoothly through Pottstown or stopping the wave of burglaries?

Isn't it entirely possible that one of these times a burglar is apt to shoot some innocent person who happens to get in the way?

It seems to me that the burgess is muddled in his thinking along those lines.

Pottstown OBSERVER

The Long Wait

To the Editor: It took four years for the burgess to produce a traffic plan.

Coincidentally he produced it on the day before the election.

Does this mean we'll have to wait another four years for it to be put into effect?

WASHINGTON

Israel Political Creation, Remind Jewish Leaders

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—Many prominent Jewish leaders in this country have become deeply concerned over the growing impression here and abroad that the State of Israel is a special ward of the United States. They have undertaken a campaign to make clear that Israel is a political creation, not a religious shrine or settlement.

On April 8, 1953, the American Council for Judaism submitted a memorandum to this effect to the State department. It was entitled a "Memorandum Outlining the Principles of the American Council for Judaism and Several Problems Created by Confusion of Judaism with the Ntionalism of a Foreign State."

Its central theme was that (1) "Judaism is a religion, not a nationality; (2) Israel is not a 'Jewish State'; (3) American Jews have no national attachment to Israel through their religion."

Although Secretary Dulles gave no publicity to this protest, it apparently affected his thinking on foreign problems in the Middle East where disputes between Israel and the Arab States give delight to the Kremlin.

On his return from a visit to that area in April, Dulles delivered a stern rebuke to Israeli extremists in a radio address. It was an unusually bold speech for a Cabinet member of either Party.

DEPLORE DEVELOPMENT: In view of the current controversy before the United Nations over Israel's diversion of water from the Biblical River Jordan, the memorandum of April 8 has been redistributed by the Council.

Besides asserting that not more than 500,000 of the 5,000,000 Jews in this country belong to the Zionist movement, which champions Palestine, it urges Dulles to make a sharp differentiation between Judaism and Israel in his conduct of foreign policy.

Many prominent Jews, including those not associated with the Zionists or the American Council for Judaism, deplore recent developments which tend to plunge their religion and their race into the dangerous maelstrom of domestic and world politics.

They recall how another race and another religion suffered because of political disputes involving the independence of Ireland and diplomatic recognition of the Vatican.

WORLD-WIDE RESPONSIBILITY: Two recent episodes make this question especially explosive at the present moment when President Eisenhower's special diplomatic emissary, Eric Johnston, is seeking to solve the Israeli-Arab problem.

Meeting with Levi Eshkol, Israel Finance Minister, and other Palestine officials, a group of American businessmen visiting Jerusalem agreed to obtain $75,000,000 from American Jews to consolidate and refund the New State's short-term indebtedness. Representatives from the United States, Britain, France, South Africa, Canada, Switzerland, Mexico, Argentina and Australia attended the five-day, economic conference.

On the same day, Oct. 28, Jordan threatened to evict the United States Point Four Mission to that country because of American resumption of financial aid to Israel. Jordan has protested that diversion of water from the river of the same name will destroy her agriculture.

Ironically, and indicating the difficulty of eliminating politico-relgious questions from American elections, it was prominent GOP masterminders who persuaded the White House to reverse its anti-Israel policy.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

JOAN J. is the wife of the dentist whom I quoted yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, what can I do to save my marriage?" she spoke tearfully.

"For Peter says he can't stand me any longer. He wants a divorce. But that would be intolerable to my family, for they don't believe in divorce.

"Can't I win him back? Or is it too late?"

LOVE CAN BE re-built, even if one party to the romance hates the other one! And that is not an exaggeration.

Several times I have described patients in this column who detested their mates, but who were madly in love again within a year.

But one of the two people involved, must use the proper psychological strategy. If the other one is willing to cooperate, that makes the task doubly easy.

But you can win your mate's affection again, even against the latter's wishes.

In Joan's case, I employed the "sandwich method" for giving her reproof regarding her slovenly habits in the home.

This "sandwich" plan means that you start off with an honest compliment. Then deftly insert the "meaty" or critical layer.

It is well to smile tolerantly and use the casual, "I wonder if it wouldn't be better if you tried very hard to be neat around the house. That's especially true since Peter is so meticulous."

I added another honest compliment to complete the sandwich. In this way, you can put across the needed reproof without offending the other person's ego.

THEN I URGED Joan to be very liberal with compliments for her mate, making it a solemn rule to give him a minimum of three spoken compliments every day.

In addition, she was to smile delightedly when he came home, for a smile is a dandy non-verbal compliment.

And she was to kiss him, Hollywood style, and put all the "oomph" into the act that she could muster.

"If you can get him to go through the motions of love," I warned her, "then he will soon begin to feel the corresponding emotions."

Well, Joan reported back to me that on the first night, Peter barely kissed her. It was an effort on his part.

But she kept up her role, and never let on that she was hurt by his impersonal attitude and studied aloofness.

"Before the end of the week, he wasn't so impersonal," she exulted, "for I could feel him weakening. And then he finally kissed me back again as he used to do during our courtship."

Hollywood

By DON HOPE

While Miss Gwynn is on vacation, her column is being conducted by Don Hope.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5 — There were three highly successful previews of new pictures here during the past few nights. First was "Rhapsody," starring Elizabeth Taylor and Vittorio Gassman, Shelley Winters' husband who is now in Italy on business and was unable to hear the raves accorded him. Elizabeth Taylor is in England, and though she drew favorable comment, maybe it's just as well she couldn't hear many complaining about all the weight she's put on. . . . "The Glenn Miller Story," starring Jimmy Stewart and June Allyson, was shown to a small gathering, and the fact that Mrs. Miller, widow of the band-leader wept often during the unreeling, gives proof of the quality and authenticity of that film.

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

How English Do It... Compare Paper Sizes...

★ HICK GOES TO NEW YORK — You can take the boy out of the country, but you can't take the newspaper instinct out of the reporter (to paraphrase that old saw). When your newsman was advised to get away from the stress and strain of making deadlines, it was agreed he'd take it easy, see a couple of Broadway shows and forget all about the newspaper business. The resolution was unbroken until breakfast the first day out of Pottstown. In the hotel dining room Lawrence, the headwaiter, confided: "Those men at the next table are British newspapermen. They're just off the first flight of a newly inaugurated airline schedule from England to the US." That broke the resolution! Somehow those English newspapermen and your local yokel finished their toast and tea about the same time, and got together in the spacious lobby of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel . . .

"WHAT DID YOU TALK ABOUT?" facetiously asked Mercury Newsman FRED SELBY when the incident was recounted in the editorial room here. One guess. Newspapering, of course. Most of the gossip was on crime and punishment and how the newspapers handle crime news. The British newspapermen were WILFRID LYTH, deputy editor of the Evening Chronicle, Manchester; HARRY M. NAYLOR, news editor of the Liverpool Daily Post, and JACK MILLER, managing editor of the fabulous London Daily Sketch, which has a circulation of 750,000! Lyth's Chronicle has a daily readership of 250,000, while Naylor's Post was smallest with 75,000 circulation . . .

★ THE ENGLISH newspapermen were amazed when your Pottstown newsman told him The Mercury, in a community of 23,000 souls, published as many as 40 pages, rarely less than 16 pages. They were amazed because their papers were held down to small size, despite the easing of newsprint restriction there. Miller's Sketch, for instance, runs only 16 tabloid pages. That would be only eight pages of The Mercury's standard size. In a city with metropolitan population of 8 million, the Sketch's circulation of three-quarters of a million doesn't seem large compared with The Mercury's 21,869 circulation in a community of 23,000! They marveled at the coverage—as do our own American cousins! . . .

BUT MOST ASTONISHMENT concerned the American press' handling of crime news. Their papers, they said, wouldn't dare publish the picture of a suspect in a murder case. It was contempt of court and they'd go to jail! The fact is, even during trials they are not permitted to take pictures of principals within city blocks of the courthouse! The judge decides how far an area around the court is off bounds to photographers. The English were reminded that Americans go to jail for the right of freedom of the press and to take trial pictures—just as three Cleveland newspapermen did just a few weeks ago . . .

★ YOUR LOCAL YOKEL doesn't get out too much, so maybe this wasn't news. But on crack Pennsylvania railroad trains they've now got automatic machines that dispense foods and drinks. No longer does the food "butcher" come around hawking his wares. There's a battery of machines at the end of coaches where you can buy as little as a cup of coffee or a candy bar, or as much as a complete light meal. For instance, for 75 cents you can get fruit juice, a sandwich, ice cream and milk or coffee! After paying $4.70 for roast beef in a New York hotel, it was easier on the pocketbook to grab a cheese sandwich here for 30 cents!

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

TIME WAS WHEN only as a last resort were the risks involved in chest and heart surgery ever dared. Changing conditions have now made this procedure more and more possible, and farther removed from the last chance group.

Such diseases as severe cuts of the heart muscles, following injury from either cuts or bullet wounds, can now be repaired.

At certain times, the sac surrounding the heart becomes infected. This may cause a compression of the heart due to the scar tissue that is formed around the sac.

Those who suffered from this condition at one time were doomed; however, now the scarred sac that holds the heart can be successfully cut open by surgical methods and the pressure of the heart relieved.

Certain heart conditions with which children are born can now be repaired surgically.

This does not mean that all blue babies can be helped. However, after complicated tests have been completed, surgery can be performed on many children otherwise doomed to early death.

At one time, the person suffering from affliction of the heart following rheumatic fever had no hope.

Now, hearts that are damaged by rheumatic fever can be helped, in certain cases, through surgery. Although the operation is not an easy one, promising results have been attained.

Certain operations have even been perfected for those suffering from coronary heart disease. However, these operations are still in the experimental stages and only time will tell whether this great killer of man might also be controlled by modern heart surgery.

MAN ACQUITTED, COSTS DIVIDED ON AUTO CHARGE

County, Local Motorist Must Share Trial Expense

By Staff Correspondent

NORRISTOWN, Nov. 5—A jury of seven women and five men in Criminal court today agreed that a Pottstown policeman should pay half the costs of prosecution after it acquitted a 21-year-old motorist on a charge of turning off lights to avoid arrest.

The jury deliberated less than an hour before it brought in a not guilty verdict in favor of Ronald Eck, the defendant, of Pottstown RD 3.

At the same time, the costs, amounting to $106.98 were divided between William A. Mars, the arresting officer, and Eck.

Following announcement of the verdict, Assistant District Attorney Lyle Houpt requested Judge E. Arnold Forrest to remit the costs imposed on Mars and order the county to pay them.

The court refused, however, and directed that the verdict stand. Later in the day, Judge Forrest reconsidered his original stand and ordered the county to pay Mars' costs.

ECK WAS TAKEN into custody by Officer William Smith, of Pottstown, at 10 a. m., Sept. 26, about nine hours after Officer Mars sent out a "wanted" order for the youth.

Mars told the jury that about 1 a. m., the same day, he was seated in a police car parked in the 300 block of North Evans street. Suddenly, he said, an automobile pulled up alongside him and stopped. An occupant yelled: "Hey, Willie," and the machine drove away.

Mars said he followed the car for a short distance when it suddenly turned into an alley near the intersection of Evans and East streets, with the officer right behind it.

A little further up the alley, Mars related, he found the fugitive machine parked with lights out and the radio blaring. The car was empty, he said.

A CHECK OF THE vehicle records at Pottstown borough hall showed that the car belonged to Gene Haines, 20, of Pottstown RD 2. He was immediately taken into custody by Officer Smith.

When police learned that Eck had been behind the wheel, he was immediately sought and finally picked up for questioning.

The defendant made a complete denial of the charge that he had turned out the lights. He said they failed because of faulty wires.

Haines, the owner, testified he had trouble with the lights the night before. His testimony was verified by several companions.

Asked by prosecutor Houpt why he and Haines fled from the car with Mars after them, Eck said that they figured "the Boyertown gang" was after them and they did not want to get beaten up.

"That alley was a bad place to turn into if you were trying to avoid a beating," observed Judge Forrest.

Court Rules Women Should Kiss and Tell

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The US Court of Appeals ruled in effect today that at times it is necessary "to kiss and tell."

In a case involving the discharge of a former Navy civilian employe on charges of kissing co-workers, the court said the women kissed should be named.

Since they were not, the court held, the charges against Fred B. Money, 65, were not specific enough to legalize his dismissal.

But, the court suggested, in sending Money's appeal back to the District court, that he may have waited too long to bring his appeal from the dismissal.

Money, now employed in Camden, N. J., shipyard, and part time instructor at Temple university in Philadelphia, was dismissed in 1944 after the alleged kissing episodes at a party celebrating his 55th birthday.

Money, incidentally, contended the women were the aggressors and "showered" him with kisses at the party.

ECK WAS TAKEN into custody by Officer William Smith, of Pottstown, at 10 a. m., Sept. 26, about nine hours after Officer Mars sent out a "wanted" order for the youth.

Mars told the jury that about 1 a. m., the same day, he was seated in a police car parked in the 300 block of North Evans street. Suddenly, he said, an automobile pulled up alongside him and stopped. An occupant yelled: "Hey, Willie," and the machine drove away.

Mars said he followed the car for a short distance when it suddenly turned into an alley near the intersection of Evans and East streets, with the officer right behind it.

A little further up the alley, Mars related, he found the fugitive machine parked with lights out and the radio blaring. The car was empty, he said.

A CHECK OF THE vehicle records at Pottstown borough hall showed that the car belonged to Gene Haines, 20, of Pottstown RD 2. He was immediately taken into custody by Officer Smith.

When police learned that Eck had been behind the wheel, he was immediately sought and finally picked up for questioning.

The defendant made a complete denial of the charge that he had turned out the lights. He said they failed because of faulty wires.

Haines, the owner, testified he had trouble with the lights the night before. His testimony was verified by several companions.

Asked by prosecutor Houpt why he and Haines fled from the car with Mars after them, Eck said that they figured "the Boyertown gang" was after them and they did not want to get beaten up.

"That alley was a bad place to turn into if you were trying to avoid a beating," observed Judge Forrest.

Phillies' Nominees Will Run for Posts Without Opposition

The Philadelphia Steam Fire Engine company nominated officers for the coming year at its meeting last night.

Nominated without opposition were: Henry Schmoyer, for president; Keith Jamison, vice president; Joseph Fulmer, secretary; Ralph Malsberger, financial secretary; Norman K. Bitting, treasurer; Henry Reidnauer, trustee; Victor Fegely, company chief and Charles Ulrich, assistant chief.

Running for positions on the seven-man board of trustees will be William Ashworth, Louis Mauger, Louis Ulrich, Donald Watkins, Kenneth Wistler, Ralph Hunsicker, Walter Lightcap Jr. and Victor Mentzer.

Leonard Mauger and Harry E. Scheetz Jr. were nominated in the contest for the opening on the board of engineers. William Firth Jr. and Harry E. Scheetz Sr. will battle for the five-year post to the Firemen's Relief association.

Court Rules Women Should Kiss and Tell

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The US Court of Appeals ruled in effect today that at times it is necessary "to kiss and tell."

In a case involving the discharge of a former Navy civilian employe on charges of kissing co-workers, the court said the women kissed should be named.

Since they were not, the court held, the charges against Fred B. Money, 65, were not specific enough to legalize his dismissal.

But, the court suggested, in sending Money's appeal back to the District court, that he may have waited too long to bring his appeal from the dismissal.

Money, now employed in a Camden, N. J., shipyard, and a part time instructor at Temple university in Philadelphia, was dismissed in 1944 after the alleged kissing episodes at a party celebrating his 55th birthday.

Money, incidentally, contended the women were the aggressors and "showered" him with kisses at the party.

Youth Killed in Crash On Bethlehem Pike

LANSDALE, Nov. 5 (AP)—Ray Ranella, about 20, Allentown, was killed today in an accident on the Bethlehem pike about two miles north of here.

Ranella was crushed to death by his truckload of canned tomatoes. Police Chief D. Howard Chapman of Montgomery township said the accident occurred when Ranella attempted to pass an automobile driven by Florence B. Fitch, 60, Philadelphia.

Ranella was in business with his father, Ernest R., as the Star Provisions company, Allentown. He was dead on arrival at North Penn hospital in Lansdale.

Two Miners Drowned In Coal Hole Accident

MINERSVILLE, Nov. 5 (AP)—Two anthracite miners digging about 75 feet below the surface drowned today when water broke through the wall of their pit from an abandoned coal hole nearby, Deputy State Secretary of Mines Gordon E. Smith reported.

Killed in the rush of water were Wasyl Urban, 59, and Anthony Bluis, 43, both of Minersville.

The two men were working in the West Skidmore main basis of the Pine Knot mine of the Oak Hill colliery. Their bodies were recovered an hour later.

'FINICKY' BURGLAR —

where the burglar broke a window to enter.

The three men—William Price, foreman, and Joseph Whitfield and Russell Douglas, machine operators—might not have been able to hear the burglar because of the machines' noise. Keen noted but he also noted that a would-be burglar would have heard them and known men were close by.

Seven o'clock was when the cement block company break-in was discovered by Raymond Haas, superintendent.

On West Vine street, neighbors reported hearing dogs barking at about midnight, but Mrs. Michael Zomolsky, 516 West Vine street, pointed out that the dogs might very well have been barking because of a skunk which was smelled in the neighborhood a few hours before midnight.

AT THE West Vine street Machine shop, the burglar went into the toilet room and searched the medicine chest, but then ignored two valuable shotguns in plain sight in the little room.

Hiram Francis, 243 Lee avenue, partner in the firm, had bought one of the shotguns the past Saturday. The other shotgun belongs to his brother, Gerald Francis, 111 North York street (The third partner is Warren Powell, Pottstown RD 2).

The buglar entered the machine shop by breaking a window. In the shop, he spurned valuable tools, including micrometers and height gauges.

In the office, which he entered after breaking glass in the door, he opened all drawers and filing cabinets, scattered papers around and even emptied a wastebasket in a futile search for hidden money.

From a desk drawer that he pried open, he got the $3. He left pennies behind, but took a few pieces of larger change.

AT THE West High street dairy bar, Ben Phillips, 118 Mt. Zion avenue, Hanover Heights, reported that between $5 and $7 in bills was taken from an open register. He took a little change from the register but left some behind. And he completed ignored a big Dixie cup with about $4 in small change.

The break-in at the dairy bar was discovered by Melvin Egolf, 549 East Vine street, Stowe, a partner at the Gulf station. He'd learned that at least two places had been burglarized, and decided to check the nearby dairy bar. He found glass broken in a back door.

At his own service station three $1 bills were taken from a cigar box. The burglar broke the cigaret machine, but ignored contents. He also ransacked two cars locked inside the station and examined things in the medicine cabinet, cellar, garage and even the little cubbyhole serving as an attic.

The Finicky Phantom made his biggest haul—the $10—at Automotive Service, wholesale distributors of tires and gasoline.

Irvin J. Maloney, 61 Cedar street, manager, said the money (virtually all of it in bills) was taken from a manila envelope in a drawer that was pried open. On the floor by a desk leg was a cigaret butt. After apparently looking through virtually every drawer and shelf in the place, the burglar went out the front door.

THE BREAK-IN was discovered at 7 o'clock by Claude Christman, a driver.

At Morris Berman and Sons Truck agency, another Chesterfield butt was found on the floor of the main office. The burglary there was discovered at 7.45 a. m. by Albert Berman, a partner.

Automotive Service was the victim of a burglary a little more than a year ago. Berman's was victimized about a month ago, but a suspect was arrested. The Gulf service station was broken into several months ago but nothing taken then.

At West End Welding company, the burglar had to break glass in two front doors to get into the office. He apparently broke a door to the shop first, then broke the office door when he found he couldn't get from shop to office.

From a drawer on the top of the desk, he picked up the $1.25 in quarters and halves, but left more than $1 in smaller change. He ignored valuable tools. As usual, he made a careful search of drawers and cabinets.

The break-in at the welding shop was discovered by John Lopuski who with his brother, Edward, is a partner.

Optimists Hear Talk On FBI Operations

The history and operations of the FBI were outlined last night to the Pottstown Optimists club by Clarence W. Frye, who is in charge of the Montgomery county area office at Norristown.

Stressing the scientific means needed to fight crime today Frye pointed out that when the FBI crime laboratory was founded in 1932 one scientist was employed. Now the bureau boasts the world's best laboratory with 200 scientists and technicians.

The club reported that the window painting prizes will be awarded at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon at the Junior High school assembly.

Club members who will present the 22 awards will be Stan Jones, hairman of the project, Harry Bunsberger, Carl Ritner and Bruce Lessig.

It was announced that Harold Eschbach, boys work chairman, will show a sports movie at the YMCA Tuesday at 7 p. m. The event will be held for Junior Optimists and anyone desiring to become a Junior Optimist.

Eight Men Trapped In Mine Explosion

VERNAL, Utah, Nov. 5 (AP)—Relatives and rescue workers may have to wait a day or two before they learn the fate of eight miners, trapped in an unexplained explosion in a deep, trench-like gilsonite mine at Bonanza this morning.

Uintah county Sheriff Herbert M. Snyder said tonight there still was some fire in the 750-foot long section of the open-cut mine where the men were believed trapped. He said it may take 'two or three days' for temperatures to cool enough for rescuers to enter the mine.

The blast ripped out a 500 yard section of the mine cut and threw out burning timbers, rock and debris. Bulldozers were required to clear the road some 75 feet away before cars and trucks could approach the pit. A photographer at the scene said he saw one slab of rock about 18 inches by six feet which had been thrown more than 300 feet from the cut.

The type of boomerang which returns to the thrower is believed to have been used in ancient Egypt.

Flowers in Church Placed as Memorials

RED HILL—Mrs. Calvin Reed, corr. Phone Pennsburg 2391. Dale Miller, del Phone Pennsburg 4673.

The altar flowers in St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday were a memorial to Glenna Scheiry by the family. The basket of flowers were given in memory of Horace H Kline by their son Llewellyn and family.

The bulletin was presented by the senior choir of St Pauls Lutheran church. Howard B. Pflieger is the director.

The ushers were: Ronald Leisenring, Charles Zepp Jr., Richard Stuban and Randall Stein. The boutonnieres worn by the ushers and church council were presented by Mrs. Hiram Brey and Mrs. Roland Heffentreger, in memory of their father, William Kline, who was a member of the church council and died 35 years ago.

'FINICKY' BURGLAR —

where the burglar broke a window to enter.

The three men—William Price, foreman, and Joseph Whitfield and Russell Douglas, machine operators—might not have been able to hear the burglar because of the machines' noise, Keen noted, but he also noted that a would-be burglar would have heard them and known men were close by.

Seven o'clock was when the cement block company break-in was discovered by Raymond Haas, superintendent.

On West Vine street, neighbors reported hearing dogs barking at about midnight, but Mrs. Michael Zomolsky, 516 West Vine street, pointed out that the dogs might very well have been barking because of a skunk which was smelled in the neighborhood a few hours before midnight.

AT THE West Vine street Machine shop, the burglar went into the toilet room and searched the medicine chest, but then ignored two valuable shotguns in plain sight in the little room.

Hiram Francis, 243 Lee avenue, partner in the firm, had bought one of the shotguns the past Saturday. The other shotgun belongs to his brother, Gerald Francis, 111 North York street (The third partner is Warren Powell, Pottstown RD 2).

The buglar entered the machine shop by breaking a window. In the shop, he spurned valuable tools, including micrometers and height gauges.

In the office, which he entered after breaking glass in the door, he opened all drawers and filing cabinets, scattered papers around and even emptied a wastebasket in a futile search for hidden money.

From a desk drawer that he pried open, he got the $3. He left pennies behind, but took a few pieces of larger change.

AT THE West High street dairy bar, Ben Phillips, 118 Mt. Zion avenue, Hanover Heights, reported that between $5 and $7 in bills was taken from an open register. He took a little change from the register but left some behind. And he completed ignored a big Dixie cup with about $4 in small change.

The break-in at the dairy bar was discovered by Melvin Egolf, 549 East Vine street, Stowe, a partner at the Gulf station. He'd learned that at least two places had been burglarized, and decided to check the nearby dairy bar. He found glass broken in a back door.

At his own service station three $1 bills were taken from a cigar box. The burglar broke the cigaret machine, but ignored contents. He also ransacked two cars locked inside the station and examined things in the medicine cabinet, cellar, garage and even the little cubbyhole serving as an attic.

The Finicky Phantom made his biggest haul—the $10—at Automotive Service, wholesale distributors of tires and gasoline.

Irvin J. Maloney, 61 Cedar street, manager, said the money (virtually all of it in bills) was taken from a manila envelope in a drawer that was pried open. On the floor by a desk leg was a cigaret butt. After apparently looking through virtually every drawer and shelf in the place, the burglar went out the front door.

THE BREAK-IN was discovered at 7 o'clock by Claude Christman, a driver.

At Morris Berman and Sons Truck agency, another Chesterfield butt was found on the floor of the main office. The burglary there was discovered at 7:45 a. m. by Albert Berman, a partner.

Automotive Service was the victim of a burglary a little more than a year ago. Berman's was victimized about a month ago, but a suspect was arrested. The Gulf service station was broken into several months ago but nothing taken then.

At West End Welding company, the burglar had to break glass in two front doors to get into the office. He apparently broke a door to the shop first, then broke the office door when he found he couldn't get from shop to office.

From a drawer on the top of the desk, he picked up the $1.25 in quarters and halves, but left more than $1 in smaller change. He ignored valuable tools. As usual, he made a careful search of drawers and cabinets.

The break-in at the welding shop was discovered by John Lopuski who with his brother, Edward, is a partner.

Optimists Hear Talk On FBI Operations

The history and operations of the FBI were outlined last night to the Pottstown Optimists club by Clarence W. Frye, who is in charge of the Montgomery county area office at Norristown.

Stressing the scientific means needed to fight crime today Frye pointed out that when the FBI crime laboratory was founded in 1932 one scientist was employed. Now the bureau boasts the world's best laboratory with 200 scientists and technicians.

The club reported that the window painting prizes will be awarded at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon at the Junior High school assembly.

Club members who will present the 22 awards will be Stan Jones, chairman of the project, Harry Tunsberger, Carl Ritner and Bruce Lessig.

It was announced that Harold Eschbach, boys work chairman, will show a sports movie at the YMCA Tuesday at 7 p. m. The event will be held for Junior Optimists and anyone desiring to become a Junior Optimist.

Eight Men Trapped In Mine Explosion

VERNAL, Utah, Nov. 5 (AP)—Relatives and rescue workers may have to wait a day or two before they learn the fate of eight miners, trapped in an unexplained explosion in a deep, trench-like gilsonite mine at Bonanza this morning.

Uintah county Sheriff Herbert M. Snyder said tonight there still was some fire in the 750-foot long section of the open-cut mine where the men were believed trapped. He said it may take 'two or three days" for temperatures to cool enough for rescuers to enter the mine.

The blast ripped out a 500-yard section of the mine cut and threw out burning timbers, rock and debris. Bulldozers were required to clear the road some 75 feet away before cars and trucks could approach the pit. A photographer at the scene said he saw one slab of rock about 18 inches by six feet which had been thrown more than 300 feet from the cut.

The type of boomerang which returns to the thrower is believed to have been used in ancient Egypt.

New Administrator For Local Hospital To Arrive Nov. 16

Edwin H. Prescott, Pottstown hospital's new administrator, will arrive here Nov. 16.

The 42-year-old executive was appointed to his new position Sept 15. He has served about five years as assistant administrator of Williamsport hospital.

Prescott will succeed A. C. Seawell, administrator since 1946, who left Sept. 1 to head the new Butler County Memorial hospital in Western Pennylvania. Seawell, who came here from Fort Worth, Tex., resigned June 20.

The new administrator was selected from among 25 applicants. Edward L. Gruber, chairman of the administrative committee of the hospital, and the other committee members—Ernst H. Struckmann and Sam H. Keiser—reported they were very much impressed with Prescott's record and personality.

"We like him very much and he has been to Pottstown and seems pleased with what he has seen," one of them commented.

PRESCOTT IS a graduate of Bates college, Me., and received a Bachelor of Science degree from Northwestern university in hospital administration in 1949.

He is a member of the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania, Central district, and a past program chairman of the district; American Hospital association, American college of hospital administrators, Kiwanis club, and charter president of Lycoming County Health council.

A veteran of World War II, Prescott is the son of the Rev. Edwin Herbert Prescott, retired Baptist pastor, and Mrs. Helen Haines Prescott, New Bedford, Mass.

He is married to the former Evelyn Dorr. The Prescotts have three children: David Dorr, 10; Eloise Haines, 6, and Paula Drew, 3.

made up of cornfields and grasslands which have dried off. It would have spread from one field to the next.

"It spread through three fields as it was."

The Monocacy Fire company answered the call with emergency equipment. Roth was told their big truck was in for repairs and the firemen responded with an emergency truck.

"The emergency truck and tanks were just what was needed, though," Roth said. "It saved the equipment and the rest of the fields."

The fire occurred around 4 p. m.

IN THE OTHER blaze, a tractor owned and operated by Everett Sheeder, Lower Lewis road, near Royersford, caught fire while Sheeder was cutting corn in a field near his home last night about 5 o'clock.

Sheeder was working in a field at the rear of the home of Warren W. Horning when husks scattering around the hot exhaust pipe caught fire and ignited parts of the tractor.

Humane and Friendship fire companies responded from Royersford, but their equipment was not needed. Individual firemen aided Sheeder in extinguishing the blaze by smothering it. The wiring and magneto of the tractor were damaged.

expectant mothers.

The only requirement for securing help from the organization is that a patient be under the care of a doctor, Miss Smith stated.

"The community still is in need of additional health service, and a new trend in public health nursing —group instruction classes—can be of enormous help," she went on.

AS AN indication of how active the visiting nurses are, the total of 508 visits during October gives a good picture.

In only 171 of these did the nurses receive full pay, and in 78 more, part pay. There were 148 visits made entirely free of charge.

The other workers in the Pottstown branch are:

Nurses Margaret Haire and Elizabeth Leuchak; part-time nurse Mrs. Elsie Ludwig; and secretary, Mrs. Margaret Troutman.

Here's a brief year-by-year history of the VNO for the past 10 years, showing only the highlights:

1944, organization incorporated and second full-time nurse employed; 1946, by-laws adopted; 1947, member of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing; 1947, contract with the Metropolitan Life Insurance company; third full-time nurse employed; 1950, first community X-ray survey; 1951, contract with Veteran's administration.

1952, agreement with polio foundation; established part-time school health program at St. Aloysius Parochial school; 1952, established loan closet; health program at St. Peter's Parochial school.

Board members at the meeting yesterday included:

Mrs. Lewis A. Holmes, Mrs. Ralph C. Johnson; Mrs. L. Eastburn Potts; Mrs. Herbert S. Eades; Mrs. Joseph A. Prince; Mrs. Alex V. Tisdale; Mrs. William E. Mills; Mrs. S. T. Nicholson Jr., and Mrs. David Todd Jones.

West End School Will Open Before End of November

Pottstown's newest school building, the sprawling West End elementary building in the Ninth ward, is slated to open for classes after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Horace J. Frederick, chairman of the school authority, said last night opening date of the Walnut and Ryan streets building has tentatively been set for after Thanksgiving.

Final plans for the beginning of classes will be discussed at an authority meeting Nov. 16 in the school administration building.

The brick and concrete block building will include 12 classrooms, two for each of Grades one through six. There will be a kindergarten, an all-1purpose room and office space.

Construction was started on the school this past March.

CARE OF WALL TO WALL CARPETING

To maintain the new appearance of carpeting, experience proves that spots should be removed as they appear rather than doing an over-all cleaning job once or twice each year.

There is available a foam cleaner that does not leave rings when removing spots since it contains no naptha or solvents. The use of this foam when spots appear, preserves the new appearance and life of carpeting. This cleaner, known as Fina Foam, may be purchased at Block's, High and Charlotte Sts., Pottstown, Phone 3010.

missions and have had to put some patients in the hallways."

"The hospital has been overcrowded for the past three Winters; it has helped some to make some of the private rooms into semi-private ones, however.

"Any time a point is reached when an incoming patient can't get the kind of accomodation he wants, then I would say there is overcrowding," Shade explained.

Pollick said he didn't think the construction work at Pottstown hospital had affected the admissions at Memorial hospital to any extent.

"Most of our patients are admitted by physicians on our own staff," he said.

Construction at Memorial hospital probably will be completed within six months. The new wing will hold 18 beds.

"That should eliminate any overcrowding and also enable us to handle an overflow from Pottstown hospital, should there be some," Pollick said.

THE WORK AT Pottstown hospital, started the past March 13, won't be completed until September, 1954, in all likelihood, and then will not be ready for occupancy until the following Spring Shade said.

Ten beds were lost to use when the construction started, but about 52 are scheduled to be allocated after it is finished.

"We've been very fortunate since the project's start; the patients have been more cooperative than we ever anticipated, and that's made things a lot easier," Shade said.

"We also are revising some other things around here so that when we move into the new building, everything will be up to date," he added.

hunting without a resident license." Hunters should inform themselves more on this law."

Explaining the regulation, Shaver said, "For you to hunt without a license, you must first own your own property and live upon it. Second, you must cultivate and make your living from that property.

"Some persons buy some land but live in town. They may put out a pasture or so, but that isn't complying with the law. We've made about five or six arrests on this."

A $20 fine is called for under the law on this charge.

WHETHER GAME HOGS are getting more than their share of rabbits and pheasants was difficult to say, the game protectors reported, pointing to the difficulties in catching hunters with above-quota kills.

No arrests have been reported this year in the area.

Other safety violations were also cited by Shaver.

Putting a loaded gun in a vehicle is one of the common infractions. "If the car is parked, it's a $10 fine. If it's moving it's a $25 fine," Shaver said.

Backing up this report was Joseph Leindecker, game protector in southeastern Berks county. "It hasn't been any worse than usual," Leindecker said. "Safety zone violations are the most common thus far."

On the whole, the game protector reported violations are being recorded at about the same average as in the past. "We're running into about the usual number," he said.

New Administrator For Local Hospital To Arrive Nov. 16

Edwin H. Prescott, Pottstown hospital's new administrator, will arrive here Nov. 16.

The 42-year-old executive was appointed to his new position Sept. 15. He has served about five years as assistant administrator of Williamsport hospital.

Prescott will succeed A. C. Seawell, administrator since 1946, who left Sept. 1 to head the new Butler County Memorial hospital in Western Pennsylvania. Seawell, who came here from Fort Worth, Tex., resigned June 20.

The new administrator was selected from among 25 applicants. Edward L. Gruber, chairman of the administrative committee of the hospital, and the other committee members—Ernst H. Struckmann and Sam H. Keiser—reported they were very much impressed with Prescott's record and personality.

"We like him very much and he has been to Pottstown and seems pleased with what he has seen," one of them commented.

PRESCOTT IS a graduate of Bates college, Me., and received a Bachelor of Science degree from Northwestern university in hospital administration in 1949.

He is a member of the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania, Central district, and a past program chairman of the district; American Hospital association, American college of hospital administrators, Kiwanis club, and charter president of Lycoming County Health council.

A veteran of World War II, Prescott is the son of the Rev. Edwin Herbert Prescott, retired Baptist pastor, and Mrs. Helen Haines Prescott, New Bedford, Mass.

He is married to the former Evelyn Dorr. The Prescotts have three children: David Dorr, 10; Eloise Haines, 6, and Paula Drew, 3.

TWO HUNTERS—

made up of cornfields and grasslands which have dried off. It would have spread from one field to the next.

"It spread through three fields as it was."

The Monocacy Fire company answered the call with emergency equipment. Roth was told their big truck was in for repairs and the firemen responded with an emergency truck.

"The emergency truck and tanks were just what was needed, though," Roth said. "It saved the equipment and the rest of the fields."

The fire occurred around 4 p. m.

IN THE OTHER blaze, a tractor owned and operated by Everett Sheeder, Lower Lewis road, near Royersford, caught fire while Sheeder was cutting corn in a field near his home last night about 5 o'clock.

Sheeder was working in a field at the rear of the home of Warren W. Horning when husks scattering around the hot exhaust pipe caught fire and ignited parts of the tractor.

Humane and Friendship fire companies responded from Royersford, but their equipment was not needed. Individual firemen aided Sheeder in extinguishing the blaze by smothering it. The wiring and magneto of the tractor were damaged.

Although many brilliant men have had large brains, some outstanding men have had very small brains.

EXPANSION NEED—

expectant mothers.

The only requirement for securing help from the organization is that a patient be under the care of a doctor, Miss Smith stated.

"The community still is in need of additional health service, and a new trend in public health nursing—group instruction classes—can be of enormous help," she went on.

AS AN indication of how active the visiting nurses are, the total of 508 visits during October gives a good picture.

In only 171 of these did the nurses receive full pay, and in 78 more, part pay. There were 148 visits made entirely free of charge.

The other workers in the Pottstown branch are:

Nurses Margaret Haire and Elizabeth Leuchak; part-time nurse Mrs. Elsie Ludwig; and secretary, Mrs. Margaret Troutman.

Here's a brief year-by-year history of the VNO for the past 10 years, showing only the highlights:

1944, organization incorporated and second full-time nurse employed; 1946, by-laws adopted; 1947, member of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing; 1947, contract with the Metropolitan Life Insurance company; third full-time nurse employed; 1950, first community X-ray survey; 1951, contract with Veteran's administration.

1952, agreement with polio foundation; established part-time school health program at St. Aloysius Parochial school; 1952, established loan closet; health program at St. Peter's Parochial school.

Board members at the meeting yesterday included:

Mrs. Lewis A. Holmes, Mrs. Ralph C. Johnson; Mrs. L. Eastburn Potts; Mrs. Herbert S. Eades; Mrs. Joseph A. Prince; Mrs. Alex V. Tisdale; Mrs. William E. Mills; Mrs. S. T. Nicholson Jr., and Mrs. David Todd Jones.

West End School Will Open Before End of November

Pottstown's newest school building, the sprawling West End elementary building in the Ninth ward, is slated to open for classes after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Horace J. Frederick, chairman of the school authority, said last night opening date of the Walnut and Ryan streets building has tentatively been set for after Thanksgiving.

Final plans for the beginning of classes will be discussed at an authority meeting Nov. 16 in the school administration building.

The brick and concrete block building will include 12 classrooms, two for each of Grades one through six. There will be a kindergarten, an all-1purpose room and office space.

Construction was started on the school this past March.

CARE OF WALL TO WALL CARPETING

To maintain the new appearance of carpeting, experience proves that spots should be removed as they appear rather than doing an over-all cleaning job once or twice each year.

There is available a foam cleaner that does not leave rings when removing spots since it contains no naptha or solvents. The use of this foam when spots appear, preserves the new appearance and life of carpeting. This cleaner, known as Fina Foam, may be purchased at Block's, High and Charlotte Sts., Pottstown, Phone 3010.

missions and have had to put some patients in the hallways."

"The hospital has been overcrowded for the past three Winters; it has helped some to make some of the private rooms into semi-private ones, however.

"Any time a point is reached when an incoming patient can't get the kind of accomodation he wants, then I would say there is overcrowding," Shade explained.

Pollick said he didn't think the construction work at Pottstown hospital had affected the admissions at Memorial hospital to any extent.

"Most of our patients are admitted by physicians on our own staff," he said.

Construction at Memorial hospital probably will be completed within six months. The new wing will hold 18 beds.

"That should eliminate any overcrowding and also enable us to handle an overflow from Pottstown hospital, should there be some," Pollick said.

THE WORK AT Pottstown hospital, started the past March 13, won't be completed until September, 1954, in all likelihood, and then will not be ready for occupancy until the following Spring, Shade said.

Ten beds were lost to use when the construction started, but about 52 are scheduled to be allocated after it is finished.

"We've been very fortunate since the project's start; the patients have been more cooperative than we ever anticipated, and that's made things a lot easier," Shade said.

"We also are revising some other things around here so that when we move into the new building, everything will be up to date," he added.

hunting without a resident license." Hunters should inform themselves more on this law."

Explaining the regulation, Shaver said, "For you to hunt without a license, you must first own your own property and live upon it. Second, you must cultivate and make your living from that property.

"Some persons buy some land but live in town. They may put out a pasture or so, but that isn't complying with the law. We've made about five or six arrests on this."

A $20 fine is called for under the law on this charge.

WHETHER GAME HOGS are getting more than their share of rabbits and pheasants was difficult to say, the game protectors reported, pointing to the difficulties in catching hunters with above-quota kills.

No arrests have been reported this year in the area.

Other safety violations were also cited by Shaver.

Putting a loaded gun in a vehicle is one of the common infractions. "If the car is parked, it's a $10 fine. If it's moving it's a $25 fine," Shaver said.

On the whole, the game protector reported violations are being recorded at about the same average as in the past. "We're running into about the usual number," he said.

Backing up this report was Joseph Leindecker, game protector in southeastern Berks county.

"It hasn't been any worse than usual," Leindecker said. "Safety zone violations are the most common thus far."

ABC Members Hear Bell System Speaker

The part the Bell Telephone system plays in television throughout the US was described to the Pottstown American Business club last night.

In other business, the team headed by Earl Jones was declared the winner in the attendance contest. The winners banquet will be held next Thursday night at the Elks.

Two memberships to the YMCA were presented by the club to a pair of Pottstown boys.

Must Look to Future Says Boden; Calls For Election of Wood

William J. Boden, Republican leader who assembled the successful GOP machine which rolled to victory in the borough election Tuesday, will not rest on his laurels.

He asserted yesterday, "Now that we've won the election here in Pottstown we must look to the future.

"Our next job is to elect Lloyd H. Wood governor of Pennsylvania."

Wood, Evansburg GOP leader who was elected lieutenant governor three years ago, is expected to be a leading candidate for the gubernatorial post in 1954.

The term of John S. Fine will expire next year. He cannot succeed himself.

Republicans elected a burgess, tax collector, six councilmen, three school board directors and an auditor in Tuesday's election.

Boden, Montgomery county recorder of deeds, led the GOP victory in Pottstown for President Eisenhower a year ago.

who carried the hopes of Democrats on his broad youthful shoulders in 1896.

He was a proud voter for Democratic Presidents Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Scheifley was born in 1861, at the beginning of the Civil War, when Democrats weren't in vogue.

That was the year Abraham Lincoln became the first GOP president just five years after the modern Republican party was born.

IN 1884 Cleveland was the first Democrat elected after a 24-year Republican reign.

The aging Democrat was born in Limerick township and, as a boy, moved to a section of Sanatoga known as "Crooked Hill."

He taught school in Sanatoga before becoming one of Pottstown's first mail carriers.

For 35 years he wore the leather pack of a carrier and then at the age of 69 retired.

He remembers the blizzard of 1888 and the depression of 1873.

For 40 years Scheifley lived in the Sixth ward before moving to his residence on Belleview avenue.

He's waiting to vote for another Democratic president.

Air Force Pilot Dies When Parachute Fails

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Nov. 5 (AP)—Turning his disabled, rocket-laden Sabrejet fighter from densely populated Detroit toward Lake St. Clair, an Air Force pilot died tonight when his parachute apparently failed to open as he bailed out.

Selfridge Air Force base refused to identify him immediately, but said he was a member of the 13th fighter interceptor squadron.

The plane crashed in water 20 feet deep between Peche island and Windmill Pointe, off the US shore. The pilot's body was found off Belle Isle, Detroit playground.

WINTER SENDS — won't it freeze" were made.

They were typified by the call made to The Mercury by Bob Romig, Ringing Hill orchard manager.

"What's the forecast," he asked. "Will it freeze? I've got three tractors and three trucks out there and I just don't want any cracked blocks.

"I'm going to buy anti-freeze tomorrow and if it should freeze without the radiators being drained, it would just be too bad, wouldn't it?"

Service stations reported an avalanche of business.

"Right now we've got one, two, three, four, five cars standing out there." Doug Schwenk replied at Buckwalter and Shaw's service station, High and Adams street, when he was questioned last night.

"It's been like that ever since I came in at 4:30 this afternoon. It was busy yesterday, but we were really rushed today."

THE SAME note was sounded by Bobby Pinder at his father's service station on West High street. "It's been pretty busy," he said. "Everybody figures it's getting kind of cold out there so we're rushed."

There were no echoes of World War II anti-freeze shortage. All station operators contacted replied like Ken Painter at Fisher's service station, Beech and high street, "We can get hold of all we'll need."

There also was a safety note for motorists—keep a window rolled down a crack in cold weather. Exhaust system leaks that may have gone unnoticed in Summer could prove fatal with all windows tightly closed.

Boyertonian Sentenced For Morals Infractions

Raymond Trethewey, of 9 Fairview street, Boyertown, yesterday was sentenced to three to ten months by the Berks county court on morals charges.

The 37-year-old was convicted of sodomy and contributing to the delinquency of juveniles.

He will serve sentence in the Berks county prison.

GROUP NAMES PRESIDENT

GETTYSBURG, Nov. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Howard O. Walker, of York, today was elected president of the Women's League of Gettysburg college at the group's 42d annual convention here.

Obituaries

Funeral services for WILLIAM J. HANLEY, husband of Ruth (DeWitt) Hanley, of GREEN HILL ROAD, WEST CHESTER, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from Calvary Lutheran church, West Chester.

The Rev. William H. Ralston, pastor of Calvary Lutheran church, officiated.

Assisting at the interment services in Mt. Zion cemetery, Pottstown, was the Rev. James Ludwick, pastor of St. Martin's Episcopal church, Radnor.

Honorary bearers were John Taylor, William Whitaker, George Longacre and Brooke Binder.

Bearers were M. L. Esworthy, Charles Compton, William Brittingham, James Wiggins, Benjamin Meyers and Andrew Roman.

Funeral services for J. WILLIAM WEIGOLD, 412 SOUTH KEIM STREET, KENILWORTH, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday from the White Memorial home, Parkerford.

Weigold died Wednesday after a fall in front of the North Coventry township polling place where he had cast his ballot in the general election Tuesday.

Officiating at the services will be the Rev. D. Howard Keiper, Coventry Church of the Brethren which East Greenville belongs).

Interment will be in East Coventry Mennonite cemetery.

"I know it won't take any more land," agreed Charles J. Schell, board president who conducted the meeting.

Kurtz then explained that the new section of street would provide more parking space near the school.

"Perhaps we should buy that piece of land near the dump along Sixth street," Kurtz suggested.

The directors wanted to know if it was for sale.

"Sure," Kurtz answered, "It might cost $1000, though."

"That would be $1000 an acre," said Linford E. Weiss, board secretary, "I don't believe it's more than an acre."

"Let's find out what the price really is," Schell said, and the board members agreed.

DIRECTOR Linwood P. Fox, who had represented the East Greenville board at the meeting of the joint board, was asked by Scheel to read a report.

It was during the report that a discussion of pupil insurance came up. Board members wanted Kurtz to tell them about it.

"Can you give us some idea," Schell inquired, "how many children get hurt at school."

"Not very many," Kurtz assured him, "but this week one child got a broken nose, and we don't have the insurance money yet."

"Looks as though we're holding the bag, then," observed Fox.

"Well, the agent didn't come here to handle it," Kurtz explained.

"The school district is sticking its neck out if we take over handling of the money," Fox replied. "By acting as the company's agent we accept liability."

THIS observation brought up discussion of another case

"I just talked to a father the other day," Kurtz said. "A girl pupil had three second teeth broken and this man's son was said to be the cause of it. The girl's father wants the boy's father to pay for the dental work she needs."

"What can they do," Schell asked.

"Make it miserable for the principal," Kurtz replied "If my child was responsible, I'd offer to pay half the damages, anyway."

Some talk of teacher tenure took place when Fox asked Kurtz who had been hired in place of Warren B. Kreider, East Greenville science teacher.

Kurtz said that the new teacher was Alfred Pettit.

"If a teacher is appointed after September, his tenure goes to the end of the unexpired term," he added.

FOX ALSO brought up the football question when he asked Kurtz if Upper Perkiomen would play Quakertown on Thanksgiving day

"No" Kurtz said. "We were asked to join the Buxmont league, but we haven't decided to go in yet."

"Good thing if we got in," Fox remarked.

"We couldn't do any worse," Treasurer Morris E. Krause agreed. "There's no interest in football here this season."

Asked about tuition for pupils from out of the district, Kurtz said the cost is set according to formula by the State.

"It's $20 a month elementary and $24 for High school," he explained. "Only instead of East Greenville getting the money from Harrisburg now, it's sent to the district, which sends it here.

He added that the formula is set according to the past year's school costs.

Regarding construction of a new school at Red Hill and a High school addition, Kurtz said that applications to begin work are still being considered at Harrisburg.

Before adjourning, the directors decided to attend the Nov. 18 meeting of the Montgomery School directors association, at Norristown.

This past Friday night Mrs. Correll saw the thin man behind the barn and yelled at him. He ducked behind a gray car and galloped off into the night.

Ichabod is believed to be long-necked with a peaked face and legs like stilts.

The United States had about 53 million motor vehicles in 1952.

Last Hour Deal Made in Attempt To Save Griffith

A last-hour attempt to re-elect Burgess William A. Griffith leaked out through the post election haze yesterday.

On Saturday night a Democratic wheelhorse tried to make a deal with Charles S. Grubb, Ninth ward Republican candidate for tax collector.

The Democrat promised to support Grubb if he would back the candidacy of Griffith.

Grubb promptly rejected the proposition and the strategy blew up in Democratic faces.

WHEN THE SURPRISING returns were counted early Wednesday morning, Elmer C. Keck, Grubb's opponent and the candidate at least one segment of the party was willing to desert, led his ticket with 3348 votes compared with 3799 for Grubb.

Griffith, party leader and twice a victor in the race for burgess, ran far behind the man Democratic leaders were trying to ditch.

John B. Hartensine Jr., GOP burgess-elect, topped Griffith 4082 to 3188 in the one-sided election victory.

As late as 10:30 o'clock Tuesday night, the defeated burgess thought he would pull the election out of the bag.

Bloodmobile Visit Scheduled Nov. 19

The Red Cross bloodmobile visit to Pottstown will be on Nov. 19, according to John Miller, chairman northern branch blood services. The unit will be operated in the armory with hours from 1 to 6:30 p. m. for blood donation.

"Cessation of Korean fighting has not lessened the need for blood," said Miller. "We must still care for hundreds of GI's in hospitals who face surgical work before final recovery.

"Also, gamma globulin demand far exceeds the supply. In fact the supply is so critical it is still distributed by the Department of Defense and can be procured only in critical circumstances."

Miller emphasized, "One pint of blood is needed for each injection of gamma globulin and hence its scarcity and rigid control."

Anyone wishing to give blood during the bloodmobile visit should call the Red Cross office, 3055, and make an appointment.

Secretary to Address State Food Workshop

HARRISBURG, Nov. 5 (AP)—Miles Horst, State agriculture secretary, will address the opening session of the two-day Pennsylvania food news workshop which opens here Tuesday.

The State official will outline the agricultural situation in the Commonwealth to the farmers and consumers scheduled to attend the meeting.

CONSTIPATED?

"I can't afford to lose any time at work. But when I was constipated, I just couldn't work because no laxative gave me the relief I wanted.

"Then a friend told me about Sal Hepatica. So I took some the next time I woke up with that headachy, logy feeling due to constipation. And, let me tell you, it was just what I was looking for. Why I felt like my old self again within about an hour!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

Central America Is Topic of Study

In our study of Central America we find that the life of a Chiclero is not very comfortable. Working in the jungle, infested with mosquitoes and snakes, Chiclero works much of the time in heavy rain. At the beginning of the season he gashes trees, collects the sap several times daily and takes it to camp where it is boiled down to make chicle for chewing gum.

Banana harvesting is hard work. A peon cuts the stalk of the plant with a sharp blade set on the end of a long pole, while another peon holds the bunch, which is cut from the stalk with a machete.

Deep in the heart of Central America scientists have unearthed strangely carved rock columns which are relics of ancient Mayan civilization.

Coconuts, one of the chief products of Honduras, grows in great clusters at the top of palm trees. Oil squeezed from the coconut meat is used in cooking and in making oleo-margarine. Charcoal obtained from coconut shells is used in making gas masks.

Thumb Piece Made In School Club

The pottery and ceramics club is composed of four Senior boys and nine Junior and Senior girls who are learning to make objects with clay. The first project was a thumb piece which was formed by wedging a ball of soft clay until it was in condition to be molded with thumbs.

After the clay had dried and was sanded smoothly, it was baked in a kiln. A simple design was painted in the center of the thumb piece. The object makes an attractive ash tray.

The second project, being made by the coil method, is a clay pot. More projects have been planned by our director, Miss Lieberman.

Projects Underway

In the crafts club, the members are working on different projects such as knitting, weaving and embroidering. Later we intend to make candles. Mrs. Schaefer, our sponsor, is helping us with all our projects.

WOMAN DIES OF BURNS

CONNELLSVILLE, Nov. 5 (AP)— Burns proved fatal today to Mrs. Albert Daniels, 53, of nearby Acme. Sparks from a pipe she was lighting ignited her clothing yesterday.

Moore Hit-Run Trial Delayed Until December

The trial of Norman "Mose" Moore, Pottstown race track driver, on hit-run charges has been postponed until the December term of Criminal court in Montgomery county courthouse, it was announced yesterday.

Woman Saves Dimes For Her Dream Trip

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 5 (AP)— Mrs. Mildred Thomas of Buffalo, Wyo., will leave Nov. 18 on a dream trip to Hawaii, paid for in dimes.

Mrs. Thomas carried 5000 dimes, weighing 35 pounds, into a Salt Lake City travel agency to buy her ticket. She said she had been saving dimes for 27 years.

65-Year-Old Man Killed When Lights Blind Driver

REDS SEEN SET TO QUIT TALKS

Neutral Observers Report Communists Obstruct Explanations

PANMUNJOM, Friday, Nov. 6 (AP)—A major Communist protest aimed at breaking off the embarrassing, futile prisoner of war explanations was believed near today.

This view came from Swiss, Swedish and Indian observers even as South Korea announced it would be ready to begin next week trying to persuade its own 332 reluctant countrymen to quit the Red side.

Rebuffed once more by 134 of 136 Chinese prisoners interviewed Wednesday in drawn-out, stalling sessions, Red persuasion teams turned their attention to North Koreans today.

They asked for about 500 North Koreans who so far have treated Communist explanations teams as roughly as have the Chinese prisoners.

The Communists also were balking at the preliminary talks called at Panmunjom to try to arrange a Korean peace conference.

They said "no" yesterday to US Envoy Arthur Dean's plan for letting lower-level staff officers try to arrange for the conference, then came back today to argue about it some more.

Swedish, Swiss and Indian officers working on the Neutral Nations Repatriation commission were convinced privately that the Reds were about to back out of the "explanation" sessions which they themselves demanded as a condition for signing the Korean armistice.

The officers based their belief on the Communists' slowdown, frequent protests and obstructions of the past two days of explanations. In two days the Reds interviewed only 341 of the 895 Chinese prisoners they had summoned.

The officers believed the Reds' protest would furnish a smokescreen of propaganda to cover their retreat.

Pro-Italian Demonstration in Trieste Ends in Riot; Two Killed, 12 Wounded

TRIESTE, Nov. 5 (AP)—Pro-Italian demonstrations got out of hand in this disputed city today and territorial police, shooting to break up a riotous, hostile crowd, killed two persons and wounded 12.

Scores of other demonstrators and police were injured in other battling around the strategic port, a part of the Trieste Free Territory's Zone A that Britain and the United States proposed Oct 8 to turn back to Italian administration. About three dozen were hospitalized.

The shooting came in late afternoon near the Roman Catholic church of St. Anthony in downtown Trieste. A priest was reconsecrating the church because of blood spilled in it during a wild melee between students and police earlier in the day.

As hundreds of students crowded around the church for the ceremony, a riot police jeep moved into the throng. Students began hurling paving blocks and sticks at the occupants.

Witnesses said the police tried to fight free of the crowd, but failed Before the fight ended it was estimated 1000 demonstrators, all apparently students, and 200 police were involved.

The crowd smashed several police jeeps and trucks. The police used fire hoses in a vain attempt to break up the riot, then opened fire. A youth of 17 and an elderly man were killed.

Shortly afterward, trucks bearing armed United States and British troops moved toward the center of the city.

It is the first time they have been called out during the two days of demonstrations and riotings, touched off by a celebration of the 35th anniversary yesterday of Italy's victory in World War I.

Mayor Gianni Bartoli and Diego De Castro, Italian political counselor to the Allied government, protested the police actions to British Gen. Sir John Winterton, the Allied commander.

Work in many parts of the city stopped when word of the shooting was broadcast.

Meanwhile, indications appeared that United States and British troops may remain here longer than originally planned when the two countries announced Oct. 8 that they would withdraw their troops and turn Trieste over to Italy.

If There's a Will There Is a Way

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 5 (AP)—She tried passionate advances, she tried poetic love letters. They all failed.

So 44-year-old spinster Catherine Tsakaracos—helped by four cousins—kidnaped handsome, 24-year-old Shepherd Athanassios Kapsalas from Castania, Central Greece, and took him to the hills.

Still she failed to win his love.

Then a distant relative died in the United States and left her $3000. Now Catherine is Mrs. Kapsalas, said reports of the saga arriving here today.

Tenth Infantry Regiment To Be Deactivated

The 10th infantry regiment was activated by the adjutant general to replace a 28th Division group which was called into Federal service.

TENSIONS EASE, EDEN DECLARES

Foreign Secretary Asserts Britain Still Seeks Big Four Talks

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said today Britain will seek talks with the Soviet Union at any level despite what he called Russia's "fundamental hostility to the Western Nations."

Eden

In a review of world affairs, Eden told the House of Commons there has been "some relaxation" of Soviet tension with the Free World since Stalin's death.

This is encouraging as far as it goes, he said.

Eden asserted the latest Russian note, a 4500-word document delivered yesterday, absolutely turned down the Western Big Three's offer of foreign ministers' talks with the Russians on Germany and Austria.

He said the Soviet reply laid down unacceptable pre-conditions which would "destroy all our defensive arrangements altogether."

"Despite this setback and this note," he said, "we, for our part remain prepared to discuss Germany and Austria with the Soviet Government at any time and at any place and without any prior conditions at all."

There were loud cheers from both sides of Commons.

DISARMAMENT TALKS PROPOSED

US Backs Resolution To Resume Work On Arms Control

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—The United States, Britain and several Allies were reported today backing a resolution calling on the UN Disarmament commission to resume work quickly on the problem of controlling the world's arms.

Informed sources said this resolution probably would be introduced in the UN Assembly's 60-Nation Political committee tomorrow when Selwyn Lloyd, Britain opens the West's arguments in the disarmament debate.

The Americans were said to have explained to the Russians the general terms of the resolution in an attempt to speed its passage and cut down on the Soviet bloc speeches in the coming debate.

These sources said there was nothing in the resolution that the Soviet Union could object to but that the Russians might try to obtain a directive for the commission to work along lines favored by the Soviet Union.

The Assembly already is on record as favoring a work program laid down by the Western side and as voting down the Soviet plan.

The West wants step by step consideration of every phase of arms control leading up to elimination and prohibition of atomic and other weapons of mass destruction when and if adequate controls are established and working.

The Russians want the commission to take up immediately the assignment of working out a treaty prohibiting atomic and hydrogen bombs.

They also want this treaty to set up controls to go into effect when the prohibition takes effect—but the West will not do that on the ground that the controls must actually be working before they will give up their atomic and hydrogen bombs.

This Is the Time to Really H-o-w-l As Cat Lovers Celebrate Their Week

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Ah, but this is a great day for us cat lovers. This is National Cat Week, a time when each of us can sit up and howl.

Week to Howl

Why is it that when a fellow says he loves dogs, he knows he's sure to get enthusiastic nods? But if he so much as hints he's fond of cats, he feels he has to apologize for it.

Not this week, though, not this week. Without apology, let's look at cats.

The Egyptians were so fond of cats they had a cat goddess, but they also had some quaint customs.

If an Egyptian lady was ordered put to death for adultery, she was sewed up in a bag with a female cat, and both were dumped in the Nile. Herodotus, the great Greek historian, reported that if the family cat died, the Egyptian owner shaved off his eyebrows to show his sorrow.

Lots of famous people have been nuts about cats.

Mohammed had a pet cat named Muezza. It went to sleep on one of the folds of his sleeve. Rather than disturb the cat, Mohammed cut off the sleeve and left the cat snoozing happily.

Petrarch reported he loved his cat as much as he did his girl friend. When the cat died, he had it embalmed in the manner of the Egyptians.

Lord Chesterfield not only left life-long pensions for his cats, but also for the kittens they were sure to produce. Richelieu had somewhat specialized tastes. He went in only for kittens. When they were three months old, he sent them away and ordered up another batch. This is frowned upon by true cat lovers.

A fellow who wrote the article on cats in the Encyclopedia Americana says the best way to judge their beauty is to look them squarely in the eye.

"The eyes of a cat," he said, "should be large, round and pleasant in expression."

And he went on, with a careless snap of his finger for all dog lovers:

"The cat has great intelligence; in fact, is one of the most intelligent of domestic animals." He thinks this is the reason a cat won't learn to do tricks. "It refuses to be made a fool of."

MUEZZA

A few unrelated cat tracks!

Fat cats are better mousers than lean cats.

Pamper a cat when he's ill—cats are natural born pessimists, and it doesn't take much to make him feel sorry for himself. Siamese cats come from Siam, but no one knows for sure where Maltese cats come from. Long haired cats are more nervous than short haired ones.

Let's face it. Some people can't stand cats. Henri 3d of France used to faint dead away at the mere sight of one.

RETIRED PASTOR DIES

POTTSVILLE, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Rev. Michael M. Kipps, 68, retired pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church at Ravine, died today at Pottsville hospital after a heart attack.

13-Year-Old Girl Puts Husbands in Doghouse

KITCHENER, Ont., Nov. 5 (AP)—Police said today a lot of innocent husbands are getting the silent treatment or worse in this area from indignant wives. A 13-year-old girl was held responsible.

Her game was picking names at random from the telephone book and on the phone telling a wife of an absent husband of a romance with him. Her tag line was that she didn't know the man was married.

"Efforts will be made," police said, "to put the girl on a more normal course of behavior."

Britain Plans End Of Food Rationing And Meat Controls

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The British meat industry will be handed back to private traders next Summer and the nation's 15 years of food rationing will end simultaneously.

Prime Minister Churchill's Government announced this today. It said also that price control and allocations of meat and bacon will be wiped away.

When rationing ends, meat traders will be able to resume their prewar business operations and the farmers will be given price guarantees, it said.

The end of meat rationing will mean a rise in the better cuts of meat and bacon, reflecting consumer choice, while prices for lower grades will fall, the Government said.

It forecast the average price of meat will remain the same. Although beef prices are expected to rise slightly and mutton prices to drop.

Control over the meat industry was imposed as a war-time measure and continued by the postwar Labor Government, whose leaders contended the state could do the job more efficiently and economically than private dealers.

Britons eat each year more than 500 million pounds ($1,400,000,000) worth of meat—300 million pounds (840 million dollars) produced at home and the rest bought from abroad.

The Government has already announced plans for ending rationing of butter, fats and cheese by early next year and has told housewives there will be no more ration books printed after the present ones expire next May.

Control over the meat industry was imposed as a war-time measure and continued by the postwar Labor Government, whose leaders contended the state could do the job more efficiently and economically than private dealers.

Britons eat each year more than 500 million pounds ($1,400,000,000) worth of meat—300 million pounds (840 million dollars) produced at home and the rest bought from abroad.

The Government has already announced plans for ending rationing of butter, fats and cheese by early next year and has told housewives there will be no more ration books printed after the present ones expire next May.

Privilege to Vote Illegally Denied Some In Tuesday's Elections, Officials Rule

A number of Boyertown residents were illegally denied voting privileges in the past Tuesday's election, it was ruled yesterday by Berks county courthouse officials.

Voters who had moved within the same precinct were wrongly prevented from casting ballots by Boyertown political officials, a courthouse official said.

The official explained that all persons who had moved to another address within the same precinct in Boyertown had the right to vote, with the understanding that after they had voted they inform the proper authorities at the polls so that their address would be corrected by the next voting time.

Officials of both Boyertown precincts stated that their incorrect ruling had denied the privilege of many persons to vote the past Tuesday.

The county officials further stated that for cases of this type, the voting authorities provide removal affidavits to allow the voter to cast his ballot without missing any election.

Woman Feels Guilty Over $35 Wallet

LONG BEACH, Calif., Nov. 5 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Reese, a Long Beach psychiatrist, told police a woman patient of his had developed a guilt complex into a full-fledged nervous breakdown.

The guilt: He learned that back in 1948 the woman had found a wallet with $35 in it. Although she didn't spend the money, she kept it.

The solution: The doctor induced her to give him the wallet to turn over to police. The identical $35 and a driver's license in the name of Blanche Brandstetter, 60, Norwood, Ohio, was in the wallet.

The result: The psychiatrist said today his patient has been cured.

Man Says Daughters Worth Nine Million

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 5 (AP)—Alvin Harrington, 31-year-old tree surgeon vowed today he "is richer than anyone in the world."

He even added: "I'm just as happy as if I had nine million dollars."

That was his reaction to the birth this week of the ninth daughter born to his wife, Lillie, since they were married 15 years ago.

Harrington commented: "It takes a lot of money to feed eight girls and now it'll take more to feed nine. But they have plenty to eat and a good, warm place to sleep. I know a lot of families with just one or two children who don't give them half as much as we do."

Borough's New 'First Lady', Young Mrs. Hartenstine, Is Glad She's a Mother, Homemaker in Pottstown

By BETTINA FABBRI
(Mercury Society Editor)

In answer to the constant question being put to her "How do you feel these days!" Mrs. John B. Hartenstine Jr., Pottstown's new first lady replies, "I don't feel any different, but, I just can't quite believe it. However, as far as burgess is concerned, it's a man's job, it won't involve me to any great extent."

The new "Mrs. Burgess," and she's been called that already, is truly a homemaker, and happy with her job. Cleaning closets just before the interview began, she was glad to sit down and talk for awhile.

Born and brought up in Pottstown, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kirkhoff, 56 West Fifth street. After her graduation from Pottstown High school she was employed in the billing department of the Doehler-Jarvis division.

When questioned how she met her husband (they've been married for 14 years) she said "I took the car up for gas one day . . . there was some casual conversation . . . I knew him about six months before I ever dated him . . . well, I never dreamed at the time that that's the way it was going to be!"

Her blue eyes twinkled as she explained that meeting him wasn't one of those great romantic moments or momentous affairs the way it is with some women. It was the type of thing that you didn't pay too much attention to at first . . . and then you began to realize what was going on.

They have two children, 13 year old Johnny in the eighth grade, and nine year old Sandra in the fourth grade at Franklin school.

Naturally the youngsters were pretty excited about the election. They finally condescended to go to bed Tuesday night. But, the first thing Sandy said Wednesday morning was, "Did my Daddy win?" And already the school kids are calling John 3d, burgess.

Though they sometimes disagree, and who doesn't, about policies with the children, the discussion usually ends with Mr. Hartenstine telling the youngsters, "What your mother says is right."

Both offspring have their share of responsibilities in the household. Johnny's main job is keeping the cellar clean, burning the boxes, newspapers and working in the yard. They help with the dishes, keep their rooms clean, and are quite capable of making breakfast and lunch.

A college education is planned for them, though of course it's a little early for definite arangements.

Sports, softball, hockey, basketball were Mrs. Hartenstine's favorite extra-curricular activities at high school. She still goes bowling every Thursday night, average score about 148, but has also accepted a more sedentary activity, bridge, as another favorite game.

When Sandra was younger she made a lot of her clothes, but now she says, her sewing has "dwindled down to mending and repairing." One large piece of work she's doing though, is the needlepoint cover for the piano bench. And speaking about pianos, she took lessons for six years, but doesn't "get around to playing very often these days."

In addition to all her work at home, which she does herself, Mrs. Hartenstine manages to have time for a few outside activities. Just this Fall she was installed as recording secretary for the Pottstown Senior auxiliary. She is a member of the Eastern Star, North End company auxiliary, Amaranth, and works as a substitute gray lady at the Pottstown hospital.

She thoroughly enjoyed her hospital work, but as she explained, "things just got to be a little too busy," so the gray lady activities had to be reduced to an occasional basis.

Fashionwise, Mrs. Hartenstine is wise indeed. Her wardrobe theories agree with those expounded by the best in the field.

"Seems to me," she said "I'm always buying shoes and hats. If you have a good basic outfit you can always change accessories."

Hats, especially fancy ones, but nothing too outlandish seem to be her specialty. She agrees with most women, that a really snappy hat can "give you a lift."

Cooking, of course, is an integral part of homemaking, and Mr. Hartenstine seems to be the ideal person to cook for. Roast beef is his favorite, but he's certainly not adverse to trying new dishes.

In his wife's words, "He's the type that if he didn't like it he wouldn't tell you, but if he thinks it's exceptionally good, he'll remark about it." (Ah, would that more men . . . . .)

An added note about the burgess elect. . . . he buys all his clothes himself, doesn't even like them for presents. It makes it easy for his wife . . . she's glad she doesn't have the responsibility of outfitting him.

Active in so many local organizations, Elks, Kiwanis, Masons, Shriners, just to mention a few, and innumerable fire companies, the question came up when he was first approached about running for burgess, whether it would mean being away from home more than ever.

However, as he explained it to Mrs. Hartenstine, more likely it would mean that he would have to give up a few other activities to devote more time to this major one.

And Mrs. Hartenstine helped with the election too.

Though not particularly active in politics, she did her share Tuesday. Ringing doorbells and bringing out the voters was her lot, and until she was on the job she didn't realize what an important task it was.

By Tuesday night she began to have a feeling of relief . . . and on Wednesday the telegrams and the 'phone calls started coming, congratulating the whole family. Her two sisters, Mrs. Ervin Howland and Mrs. Donald Keeler, "were both thrilled to death, so happy for John's sake."

And the good wishes and congratulations will probably be coming in for quite a while. Of course, there's a lot of excitement, even the eggman said (I was eavesdropping on this!), "I see that Johnny got elected, I'm glad, I sure am glad."

As far as secret ambitions for visits to Siam or Caribbean cruises, Mrs. Hartenstine has none. She's happy with being a homemaker . . . in Pottstown.

As she so aptly put it, "We've been many places, but coming down the main street, oh, my—it's nice to be home—I don't think there's any other place I'd want to be."

Borough's New 'First Lady', Young Mrs. Hartenstine, Is Glad She's a Mother, Homemaker in Pottstown

By BETTINA FABBRI
(Mercury Society Editor)

In answer to the constant question being put to her "How do you feel these days!" Mrs. John B. Hartenstine Jr., Pottstown's new first lady replies, "I don't feel any different, but, I just can't quite believe it. However, as far as burgess is concerned, it's a man's job, it won't involve me to any great extent."

The new "Mrs. Burgess," and she's been called that already, is truly a homemaker, and happy with her job. Cleaning closets just before the interview began, she was glad to sit down and talk for awhile.

Born and brought up in Pottstown, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kirkhoff, 56 West Fifth street. After her graduation from Pottstown High school she was employed in the billing department of the Doehler-Jarvis division.

When questioned how she met her husband (they've been married for 14 years) she said "I took the car up for gas one day . . . there was some casual conversation . . . I knew him about six months before I ever dated him . . . well, I never dreamed at the time that that's the way it was going to be!"

Her blue eyes twinkled as she explained that meeting him wasn't one of those great romantic moments or momentous affairs the way it is with some women. It was the type of thing that you didn't pay too much attention to at first . . . and then you began to realize what was going on.

They have two children, 13 year old Johnny in the eighth grade, and nine year old Sandra in the fourth grade at Franklin school.

Naturally the youngsters were pretty excited about the election. They finally con descended to go to bed Tuesday night. But, the first thing Sandy said Wednesday morning was, "Did my Daddy win?" And already the school kids are calling John 3d, burgess.

BILL FISHER
. . . Trojan Casualty

FISHER DEFINITELY OUT, CLARK BURNS RETURNS

Pottstown High must beware that the Ches-Mont league's weak sister doesn't do some hair pulling tonight at Coatesville. The Red Raiders of coach Wayne Von Stetten have been applying war paint all week and it's up to the Trojans to try and smear it off.

Playing at Coatesville under the lights at 8 o'clock, the Trojans will try to gain a foothold in the upper half of the Ches-Mont standings with their fourth win of the campaign. In the league they have beaten West Chester, tied Berwyn and lost to Phoenixville.

Coatesville has also played three league games losing to West Chester, Berwyn and Bridgeport. In all, the Raiders have dropped seven straight, allowing a minimum of three touchdowns to every opponent and scoring no more than one TD in any game themselves.

The Trojans will be in fair shape physically. Only tackle Bill Fisher definitely will not play. A hip injury, aggravated at Berwyn has not responded to treatment and Marshall Sager and Bob Gilliland will share Fisher's shoes. Sager will play on offense and Gilliland on defense.

Clark Burns has recovered from a sprained ankle and will return to his left halfback position. He will be backed up by Al Bodolus, who filled in last week, and Wilson Bedell who is okay again after a back ailment.

MAC SHIREY'S HIP is feeling better and he will see limited action at offensive end and defensive linebacker.

If the Raider defense is as weak as the records would indicate, Howie Bedell should be in for a big evening of running. The fleet Trojan halfback has been the leading ground gainer in every contest although he has slowed down somewhat from his early season pace.

The improved passing of reserve quarterback Jim Kirk adds some spark to the Pottstown attack and may come in handy tonight.

Coach Heeb Meyers has stressed defense again this week, although the team has made great progress in this phase of the game in recent weeks. He watched the Raiders get stomped, 41-0, by West Chester last week but even in that one-sided defeat he noticed that the losers' attack was functioning for brief spells. Fumbles halted several drives and Meyers said Coatesville looked better against the Warriors than it did losing to Berwyn, 21-6.

The Raiders use several formations and Roscoe Brown is one of the best backs in the league. With a little help he could give Pottstown trouble.

TROJANS' BIG BOY—Top passer receiver for Pottstown High this season has been 230-pound Milt Wensel: Last week against Berwyn he made a pair of difficult catches to spark the team on its only touchdown drive. He'll be on the receiving end of passes thrown by quarterbacks Josh Sova and Jim Kirk tonight at Coatesville.

Teams in Good Shape

Schwenksville, Collegeville Prep for Tomorrow's Finale

With both teams winding up their seasons and both coaches planning new plays especially for the '53 finale, anything can happen when Schwenksville visits Collegeville-Trappe tomorrow afternoon.

The Schwenksville Blue birds, under the watchful eye of coach Paul Bingaman will be running from a single wing and will depend on the scoring ability of left halfback Ted Kerschner, who is tied for runnerup honors this season with Upper Perk's Del Fritz at 42 points.

Bingaman plans to use a mixture of running and passing plays against the Colonels. Kerschner and Al Loughery, right halfback, are the team's top tossers. Usually right end Bob Reifsneider and quarterback Jay Fisher are on the receiving end of the aerials.

Topflight subs that will get a crack at the Colonels are quarterback Gene Robbins, halfback Warren Kratz, guard Dennis Gould, and right half Richard Kratz, who has a bad leg and may or may not play, depending on its condition.

As far as coach Bob Hackman and the Colonels are concerned, the formula is about the same, a mixture of a ground and aerial attack.

ONE MAN, Bill Douglas, senior left tackle, is definitely out with a bad knee. Al Rosser, a junior, has been called upon to fill his shoes.

In spite of the Douglas loss, Hackman feels that he has had good luck with his tackles this year. "I was fairly deep on them and I can't complain," he said.

Others who will take part in the tilt are end Bill Hales, guards Tommy Thompson and Joe Kane, tackle Jim Muche and halfback Benny Rhoads. All of these are defensive players.

Upper Perk Girls Lead Hockey Loop; Beat Boyertown, 2-1

In two crucial games played yesterday in the Perk Girl's Hockey league, Upper Perkiomen edged Boyertown, 2-1, while Norco and Schwenksville fought it out to a 1-1 tie.

Upper Perk moved into the top spot in the league by virtue of its one point win over Boyertown. Previously, the Bearettes held a 5-1 record, but Perk's win puts it upstairs with a 5-1 record while Boyertown ends its season with a 5-2 mark.

Upper Perk still has one game to play with Royersford. A Perkette victory means the championship. But a loss would throw the place tie between Upper Perk, Boyertown and North Coventry.

The Norco Kittens could have gained undisputed possession of second place with a win yesterday but Schwenksville came back in the second half to tie the game on Ruth Gertzen's goal. Mildred Luft gave Norco the lead in the first period with a goal.

CAROLYN SELL scored the Bearette's only goal in the last half, but it wasn't enough to overcome Audrey Fillman's and Barbara Schmoyer's tallies for Upper Perk.

In jayvee games played yesterday, Boyertown beat Upper Perkiomen, 2-0, on goals by Barbara Conrad and Doris Fronheiser, while the junior editions of the Norco and Schwenksville teams battled it out to a 1-1 tie, with Lucille Swavely scoring for Norco, and Miss Rosenberger for Schwenksville.

Nagy Returns For Cubs' Game

Dave Nagy will be back at his offensive end post this afternoon when the Pottstown High Golden Cubs play at West Chester this afternoon.

Coach Gene Kauler will send his team against the Junior High that broke the Cubs' long winning streak the last game of the '52 season. West Chester has another strong squad this year, with Charley Melton and Andrea Steele returning from the past season's backfield.

Cub captain Ken Wensel is still on the disabled list.

City Cage Loop To Hold Meeting

The City Basketball league will hold its first meeting of the season next Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the office of Bob Reis, recreation commission director, Borough Hall.

Reis said last night that he believes all seven teams that were in the league last year will sign up again. An eighth possibility is a squad from the Valley Forge Veterans hospital. The Forgers entered a team in the City Industrial Baseball league last Summer.

Gene Kauler will direct the team for the recreation commission this year.

Chris Baum Rolls 257 Game, 700 Set As Builders Win 3

The bowlers in the Pottstown Major league let up slightly on their record breaking performance of the past week, but they still turned in some outstanding scores last night.

The second 700 series of the season was bowled by Chris Baum. He hit that mark on the nose. The only set this year was Mooney Seeders' 728 series several weeks ago.

Builder's Supplies moved into a tie for second place by winning three games from last-place Umstead Truckers. The Builder's now hold a 14-10 mark, the same as Erb's Truckers who downed Young's Distributors, 2-1, last night.

The league leading Boyertown quintet gained a 2-1 win over Pottstown Owls to improve its season mark to 17-7.

The two best games rolled were 257 by Baum ad 255 by Ray Erb.

Builder's Supplies had both high team single, 2942, and high team triple, 1032.

Big Turnouts Mark Early PHS Cage Sessions

Big turnouts have marked the early practice sessions of the Pottstown High basketball team held nightly at the Junior High gym by coach Bill McCabe.

About 18 Sophomores and 20 Juniors and Seniors are making their bid for the jayvee and varsity squads.

The greater portion of McCabe's varsity will be made up of players who are presently engaged in football. They will report for cage drills at the end of the gridiron season.

* * *

DICK KOVACH is the only regular from last year's team that is currently practicing. Ron Cheney and Bob Gray were also members of the varsity squad and are taking part in the drills.

The best Sophomore prospect appears to be Paul Zirkel the high-jumping center from last year's Junior Hifh team.

Topflight subs that will get a crack at the Colonels are quarterback Gene Robbins, halfback Warren Kratz, guard Dennis Gould, and right half Richard Kratz, who has a bad leg and may or may not play, depending on its condition.

As far as coach Bob Hackman and the Colonels are concerned, the formula is about the same, a mixture of a ground and aerial attack.

ONE MAN, Bill Douglas, senior left tackle, is definitely out with a bad knee. Al Rosser, a junior, has been called upon to fill his shoes.

In spite of the Douglas loss, Hackman feels that he has had good luck with his tackles this year. "I was fairly deep on them and I can't emplain," he said.

Others who will take part in the tilt are end Bill Hales, guards Tommy Thompson and Joe Kane, tackle Jim Muche and halfback Benny Rhoads. All of these are defensive players.

Texas, Upset Choice

• Notre Dame Picked to Defeat Penn, 28-7

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—If we picked horses the way we do football games, we'd be borrowing dimes for coffee, but here's the way a turf handicapper might rate the top ten teams in this week's games:

Should win easily—Notre Dame, Maryland, Georgia Tech, West Virginia.

Should win, close—Illinois, Michigan State, Oklahoma, Duke.

Best upset possibility — Baylor (by Texas).

Biggest cinch — UCLA (open date).

Last week we hit on 34 of 48. Now for another fling:

Notre Dame over Pennsylvania: The Irish line, nearly a ton of hard-hitting gristle, helps grind out a 28-7 victory.

Maryland over George Washington: Jim Tatum never uses his regulars more than a half. Another for Bernie Faloney & Co., about 35-0.

Texas over Baylor: The Longhorns corral the Bears' race horse backs and score an upset victory at home, maybe—decided by a single point, 14-13.

Illinois over Michigan: Mickey Bates and J. C. Caroline should take the measure of a team looking a week ahead to Michigan State.

Michigan State over Ohio State: Here's another good chance for an upset but the Spartans have too much manpower. About 21-14.

* * *

GEORGIA TECH over Clemson: The Clemsons upset Wake Forest a week ago but they're mismatched against Tech, a possible 28-0 victor.

West Virginia over Virginia Tech: The Mountaineers sniff a possible Sugar Bowl bid and will pour it on, about 27-7.

Oklahoma over Missouri: No easy touch for the Sooners. Missouri was good enough to beat Purdue, Nebraska and Indiana. 28-14.

Duke over Navy: The Midshipmen upset the Dukes a year ago but the Dukes have their guard up this time and should win on their sturdier defenses. Close, 14-7.

Southern California over Stanford: The loss to Oregon last week was just enough to sting the Trojans into a fired-up performance. May win by an extra point, 21-20.

Minnesota over Indiana: The Gophers have Paul Giel. 'Nuff said.

California over Washington: Paul Larson picks the Golden Bears up after two straight setbacks for a close victory.

* * *

KENTUCKY over Vanderbilt: After a bad start, Bear Bryant has built the Wildcats into one of the South's best. Vandy still too young.

The others:

Friday night—

Auburn over Miami (Fla.).

Saturday—

EAST—Army over North Carolina State, Wake Forest over Boston College, Holy Cross over Boston U., Penn State over Fordham, Brown over Connecticut, Princeton over Harvard, Cornell over Syracuse, Yale over Temple, Colgate over Bucknell, Rutgers over Lafayette.

MIDWEST — Nebraska over Iowa State, Iowa over Purdue, Wisconsin over Northwestern, Kansas over Kansas State, Marquette over Detroit, Wichita over Denver.

SOUTH—Alabama over Chatanooga, Florida over Georgia, Tennessee over Louisiana State, Mississippi State over Tulane, Mississippi over North Texas State, North Carolina over South Carolina, Pittsburgh over Virginia, William & Mary over VMI, Washington & Lee over Davidson, Richmond over Hampton-Sydney, Cincinnati over Louisville.

SOUTHWEST—Rice over Arkansas, Houston over Tulsa, New Mexico over New Mexico A & M, Oklahoma A & M over Wyoming, Southern Methodist over Texas A & M, Texas Tech over Arizona, Hardin-Simmons over Texas Western.

FAR WEST — Texas Christian over Washington State, College of Pacific over San Jose State, Oregon over Idaho, Colorado over Utah, Colorado A & M over Brigham Young, Montana over Montana State.

Bruce Bosley, Tackle — Tommy Allman, Fullback — Art Lewis, Head Coach — Joe Marconi, Halfback

LEAD MOUNTAINEERS TO UNDEFEATED SEASON ON GRID—Ranked among the top teams in the country, the West Virginia U. Mountaineers roll on undefeated led by this group. A member of the Southern Conference, the Mountaineers, coached by Art (Pappy) Lewis, have defeated Pittsburgh, Waynesburg, Washington-Lee, George Washington and V.M.I. in succession. Lewis, an Ohio U. graduate, played pro ball with the Giants and Cleveland Rams. He was head coach at Wash-Lee for three years, line coach at Mississippi State for two seasons and became West Virginia's head coach in 1951.

FRED SAIGH GETS RELEASE

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 5 (AP)—Fred M. Saigh, former owner of the St. Louis Cardinals baseball team, will be released from the Terre Haute federal penitentiary Nov. 12, Warden Bernard Madigan said today.

Saigh entered the institution May 4 to serve up to 15 months for federal tax law violations and appeared before a federal parole board representative Oct. 16 after serving the minimum.

New Blood Needed

Mack Says Dyke One of 4 Best

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5 (AP)—There aren't four better managers in the major leagues than Jimmy Dykes.

Who says so? Not Dykes himself, nor his wife nor any of his kinfolk. The tribute comes from the man who just fired Dykes as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, Roy Mack.

The obvious question then is why was Dykes fired and Eddie Joost named in his place.

The answer as gathered from a luncheon chat with Roy Mack is that Dykes spent too much time following the wrong kind of ball. Dykes, it seems, was so devoted to golf he slighted the Philadelphia Athletics. So said Roy Mack.

The executive vice president of the Athletics agreed that Dykes wasn't responsible for Bobby Shantz' tearing loose a tendon in his pitching arm; Dykes wasn't responsible for the injury that sidelined Joost from June 19 to the end of the season; nor was he to blame for the fading of Harry Byrd as an effective pitcher.

* * *

"DYKES IS STILL one of the best managers in the business," said Mack.

Why then did you fire him? He was asked.

"Well, we needed a change, some younger blood at the helm. Dykes is 56 and Joost is only 37," said Roy.

The Brooklyn Dodgers hit 49 home runs during the month of August.

Outclasses Field

Rocky's Already Got Everything, But Keeps Strict Work Schedule

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP) — Rocky Marciano is heavyweight boxing champion of the world.

He has no title defense scheduled for the immediate future. In fact, he so outclasses his field there isn't a challenger on the horizon who would be conceded much of a chance against him.

Marciano

It would seem to be a grand opportunity for him to sit back and live on the fat of the land, adding a few flabby pounds here and there by luxurious living as he tried to forget the long weeks of drudgery in training camps.

After all, he's the best isn't he? Why chase a streetcar after you've caught it? He can relax now. Plenty of time to get back into shape when a bout is definitely booked. He knows enough about fighting, diesn't he? He always wins, so why bother to improve.

So what does Rocky do after returning to Grossinger, N. Y., after a two-week tour with his wife? He starts training.

Not only just training to keep his fine body in peak condition, but training to improve his fighting technique, to master moves that have eluded him in his quest for perfection. Or at least as near perfection as his physical assets permit.

* * *

"ROCKY CAME back from his two-week tour to find his little girl, Mary Ann, had added six pounds during his absence, and weighed 30 pounds," our informant said.

"That was fine for the baby, but wouldn't be for Rocky. Know what he does up at Grossingers? He goes to bed at 9 o'clock every night, except for one night when he stayed up to watch a show.

"Then he's up bright and early to trudge up and down the hills for five miles of roadwork.

"Last Friday, his trainer, Charley Goldman, went up there and took along some training equipment—big gloves, headguard and one thing and another.

"He stayed until Monday, and he and Rocky would go down to the ski chalet and Rocky would practice certain moves."

* * *

KNOWING THE Brockton young man, and admiring him for his modesty and gentlemanly conduct, the sketchy details provided by our informant were all we needed. We could fill in the rest of the picture ourselves.

We could see him trotting, then walking, then sprinting over the frosty country roads, pausing occasionally to go through curious gyrations designed to limber up muscles.

And we could see him in the chalet, lips set tightly and brow creased in a frown of concentration as he drilled methodically to perfect certain moves that might improve his performance, with gnome-like little Goldman peering critically through his specs to spot flaws.

There must be a moral to it somewhere, in this striving for improvement on the part of a man who already is the best in his line.

It should serve as a warning for future opponents who think that the passing of the days with the champion inactive from the standpoint of actual competition will enhance their chances when they do finally meet him.

And it's a hint that Rocky Marciano may be champion a long, long time. He won't be slipping for quite a spell, as his realization of his weaknesses makes him practically skid proof.

GUESS WHO—You wouldn't know him without a baseball uniform on, but the ice skater is Joe Collins, first sacker of the New York Yankees, seen at Grossinger, N. Y.

Trojanettes Beat Coatesville, 3-1

Marcia Baylor paved the way to Pottstown High Trojanettes' third hockey win of the season yesterday afternoon by scoring two goals in the 3-1 victory at Coatesville.

Nancy Lord tallied Pottstown's other goal as the winners took a 3-0 lead at halftime. Joan Newman dented the nets for Coatesville after the intermission. Pottstown now has a record of three wins, two losses and a tie.

In the jayvee game, Barbara Good brought Pottstown its second victory by scoring the only goal of the game to beat the Coatesville junior varsity, 1-0.

MAT CIRCUS IN THE GARDEN—Madison Square Garden in New York generally is the scene of boxing matches but on this occasion the rasslers take over. In the action, which brings smiles to the faces of the ringsiders Gene Stanlee gives Wladek (Killer) Kowalski a bit of a going-over. The bouts drew a crowd of 15,581 and a gate of $51,265, a bit of a surprise.

Paddy Young Is 4-1 Favorite To Beat Sammy Giuliani Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Paddy Young, beaten by Bobo Olson for the American middleweight title in his last start, opens a new drive tomorrow night against Sammy Giuliani of Stamford, Conn.

The 10-round bout will be carried on network radio and television at 10 p. m. Pottstown time from St. Nicholas Arena because the horse show has taken over Madison Square Garden. Paddy seems to get mixed up with the horsey set. To ge ready for Olson, June 19, he trained at a Dude Ranch near Glens Falls, N. Y.

Young's manager, Harry Stickevers, has convinced him he must be more active to make (1) money and (2) progress in the 160-pound class.

"I'm through taking it easy," Young said. "I've always been a work-horse. I want another shot at Olson and I'll fight anybody to get it."

GIULIANA, a 4 to 1 underdog, is a rugged customer who may be remembered for a free slugging scrap with Vince Martinez at the Garden a year ago. Only 21, Giuliani has a 29-8-1 record for 38 pro fights since he started in 1950. He has won four of five this year, losing only to Chuck Davey on a tenth round technical knockout, April 29 at Detroit.

The record books show Young fought only once in 1952, a 10-round victory over Ernie Durando, and only twice this year. He whipped Durando in a 12-round elimination bout to earn the Olson scrap, March 27. Then he lost to Olson on a unanimous decision in 15 rounds.

Eastern T Quarterbacks Ford, Rados, Lalla Rate With Best

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP) — The quarterbacks are on the spot in Eastern football this week.

The boys who handle the ball in the T and who throw passes drew most of the rave notices after last Saturday's games, cracking what had threatened to become a linemen's monopoly on nominations for All America and All Eastern honors. Now they have to prove that they're consistently good.

The top trio of eastern quarterbacks so far this season appears to be Dick Lalla of Colgate, Tony Rados of Penn State and Henry Ford of Pittsburgh — not necessarily in that order. And all three turned in some notable feats in last week's games.

Lalla, who was instrumental in Colgate's victory over Dartmouth and its tie with Yale, got a real chance to show off as Colgate trounced Rutgers, 33-13. He threw three touchdown passes, touched off another with a lateral "pitch-out," completed 9 of 16 aerials for 145 and handled the ball adeptly.

In addition, Lalla showed himself to be a smart signal caller and a leader who could pick up the team when it showed signs of faltering and he played a first class defensive game, making several important tackles in the safety role and rushing into the Rutgers backfield at times to down runners before they could move.

PLAYING ON the losing side against West Virginia, Rados, the East's leading passer, broke his own Penn State record when he completed 16 of 27 passes for 239 yards and two touchdowns.

Against mighty Minnesota, Ford repeatedly came up from safety to make tackles and it may have been significant that Paul Gile's fine 65-yard run was made while the Pitt quarterback was taking a brief rest on the bench. Ford also ran and passed well, but his receivers couldn't get loose.

One observer summed it up: Ford is every bit as good on defense as Rados is on offense and Ford is better on offense than Rados is on defense.

Besides these three, quarterbacks Pat Stark of Syracuse, Bill Beagle of Dartmouth, Pete Vann of Army and Roger Franz of Fordham turned in outstanding performances last Saturday. Stark, who sparked Syracuse's victory over Holy Cross with two touchdown passes, was tabbed as "a real team leader."

New names appearing on the check list this week included Cornell fullback Guy Bedrossian, a standout against Columbia and a steady two-way player; little Carroll Lowenstein of Harvard; tackle Roosevelt Grier of Penn State and Bob Mischak of Army, who has improved rapidly in his new position at end.

Repeat nominations went to Ted Kukowski, Syracuse center, and Stan Tsapis and tackle Poe Fratt of Cornell.

Andrews, Davey Both Refuse Offers To Fight Graham

DETROIT, Nov. 5 (AP)—Nobody, it seems, wants to fight Billy Graham. Not Al Andrews, the winner. Not Chuck Davey, the loser.

Andrews scored a close split decision over the fading Davey Wednesday night in a nationally televised 10-rounder.

That was supposed to put Andrews into a Dec. 2 date here with Graham, the veteran welterweight contender from New York. Graham had agreed to fight the winner, but Andrews apparently hadn't, and today Joe Bernstein, Andrews' 76-year-old manager said:

"I don't think my boy is ready for Graham. Graham has too much experience. He's too smart."

A matchmaker for the International Boxing association tossed the fight Davey's way but a source in the Davey camp said he did not think the Lansing, Mich., boxer would accept. He said he did not think the time was ripe for the 29-year-old Davey to take on Graham.

* * *

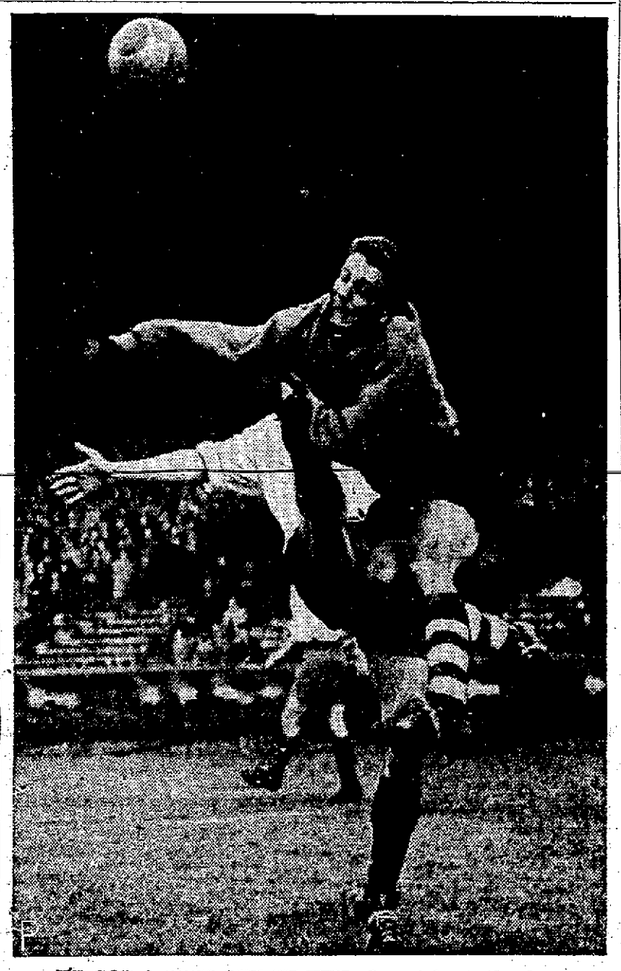
ALMOST EVERYBODY in the Detroit Arena thought Davey should have won the fight, including Graham. A ringside poll showed 13 writers favored Davey and only one thought Andrews won.

Phone calls from televiewers poured into local newspapers complaining of the decision.

The two judges—Bill Appleton and Joe Lenahan—voted Andrews and referee Morrie Sherman gave it to Davey.

Pistons Top Celtics

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 5 (AP)—The Fort Wayne Pistons maintained a narrow lead through most of the second half to beat the Boston Celtics in a National Basketball association game tonight, 83-79. The Pistons won in spite of the shooting of Bill Sharman, who got 16 of his 23 points for Boston in a furious fourth period.



HE GOT A BOOT OUT OF THIS—Specatular action is caught by the sports camera in Paris, France, during a soccer match as one player smashes the ball away from an opposing booter and, in turn, gets a real kick out of it.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ROBERT COOTE, distinguished young English actor, chanced to visit a telegraph office just before Mother's Day—an institution as yet unheard of abroad—and was intrigued with a list of suggested messages provided by the management. One addressed to "Dear Old Mom" with a reference to hearts, flowers, etc., captured his fancy. So he wired to his own "Mom" in Sussex. Back came a cable next day from the good lady, reading: "Dear Son, whatever kind of trouble you've gotten yourself into, I'll stand by you to the end."

Don Haggerty watched firemen carry to safety the intoxicated gent in whose room a blaze had originated. "Confound it!" roared the Chief. "Haven't you got sense enough not to smoke in bed when you're in this condition?" The drunk protested solemnly "Honest, Chief, that bed was burnin' already when I got into it!"

High School Football Coach Resigns

The resignation of Robert McNelly as football coach of Royersford High school was accepted at the November meeting of Royersford school board last night.

The letter was read by the board secretary, Mrs. Sarah Huzzard. In it McNelly said briefly he had reached the decision only the past week, after consulting his physician. It will become effective at the close of the 1953 football season. The coach added, however, he desired to retain his post as a classroom teacher. He is boys' physical education instructor.

McNelly came to the local school district in 1942 and is now completing his 11th year.

MORE TWIN-BORO NEWS ON PAGE 18

Hearing report the roof of the elementary school building is in need of repairs or a new one, the board on motion voted to have necessary repairs made by Main Roofing company, Norristown, with a view of having a new roof installed next Summer.

It was reported that work on installation of the oil burning heating system in the High school building has been completed except a few details, and the new system apparently is working satisfactorily.

UNDER REPORT of the finance committee it was reported tuition rates for the 1953-1954 term are:

Elementary school, $15.71; secondary school, $25.97. The past term, rates were $12.17 and $22.94.

In another action, the board agreed to accept an offer of $50 from Leroy Leidenberger for two one-horsepower motors and old fans.

Report of J. Morris Peterman, treasurer, listed a balance of $63,226.07 in the school district and $ 54.68 in the public library account.

Tax Colector Daniel J. Mowrey reported total receipts of $3294.54 and a present outstanding balance of $9929.91.

In the subway the other day, a personable young lady was overheard saying that she was worried about finding a good job, because she had no training of any sort and no experience. If she should happen upon this message during her travels, she should head for the nearest Bell Telephone Employment Office or Business Office listed in the Directory. If she prefers, she can call the Operator and ask for the Employment Office for Women. She can then forget about having neither training nor experience. Neither is needed. What's more, she'll be well paid from the start.

High School Football Coach Resigns

The resignation of Robert McNelly as football coach of Royersford High school was accepted at the November meeting of Royersford school board last night.

The letter was read by the board secretary, Mrs. Sarah Huzzard. In it McNelly said briefly he had reached the decision only the past week, after consulting his physician. It will become effective at the close of the 1953 football season. The coach added, however, he desired to retain his post as a classroom teacher. He is boys' physical education instructor.

McNelly came to the local school district in 1942 and is now completing his 11th year.

GIRLS

OVERHEARD

In the subway the other day, a personable young lady was overheard saying that she was worried about finding a good job, because she had no training of any sort and no experience. If she should happen upon this message during her travels, she should head for the nearest Bell Telephone Employment Office or Business Office listed in the Directory. If she prefers, she can call the Operator and ask for the Employment Office for Women. She can then forget about having neither training nor experience. Neither is needed. What's more, she'll be well paid from the start.
